

GOLF

There are definitely things in life which are much more important than classroom assignments. I strongly feel that golf has been the most important factor in shaping my life and personality.

Through my golfing experiences I have met older men whose conduct has always reflected the consummation of the highest possible principles and ideals. During my exposure to such men, I have come to realize the value of hard work, extremely fine self-expression, and most of all the value of becoming a gentleman in every sense of that word.

In addition to helping me form relationships with wonderful people, golf has given me a code upon which I intend to base my entire life. All of golf is based upon three simple philosophies which are: play the ball as it lies, play the course as you find it, and always play fairly. When a person's life is based upon interpretations of these ideas, it cannot help but become a life of integrity and of the highest possible attainment. A golfer who plays the ball as it lies will never try to make a fast buck nor will he try to do things the easy way instead of the right way. When one plays the course as he finds it, he proves that he has the honor and the guts to face a challenge without complaint since he knows that personal achievement without any dishonest or even remotely dishonest assistance is a supreme reward. The last rule of golf which states that one must always play the game fairly applies not only to golf but to everything one does thru out his life. Anything done on the level is always a thing to be proud of.

I am glad I am a golf player because golf, when played as it was meant to be played, gives a man strength of character far and beyond any such strength which might be gained in a classroom.

MANZATE for blackspot
ISOTOX for insects
ACTI-DIONE for mildew

Use one tablespoon of each per gallon of water and mix. Also, every two weeks, include one half a teaspoon of a systemic called BENLATE 1991. Next fall, I'll advise you in detail my simple old fashioned method of putting roses to rest for winter. (This method was also given to me this time by another friend just before he expired.)

Research has placed
BenSun (A-34) Kentucky
Bluegrass in a class by itself!

RATED FIRST FOR WEAR TOLERANCE
RATED FIRST FOR SHADE TOLERANCE
RATED HIGH IN DISEASE RESISTANCE

BenSun (A-34) Kentucky bluegrass was the only bluegrass, out of 18 tested, to receive an excellent rating, for wear tolerance on golf courses. This test was conducted by a leading university doing turfgrass research. BenSun (A-34) is also rated first for shade tolerance (up to 65%) and near the top in disease resistance.

It grows vigorously in shade, sun, cool and warm climates, high and low altitudes, poor soil and even sand.

Write for more detailed information, a list of golf courses now using BenSun (A-34) and the research ratings referred to above.
