MY FACE IS RED.

I am truly sorry if my hasty weather prediction in the Chicago Tribune for the best spring and summer ever on our golf courses (due to the heavy winter snow) caused you unnecessary worry and sorrow. The climate to date has been just the opposite to my rosy predication and I'd better get out of the weather business before somebody puts a bounty on my head. In the past years when I used the news media and my many connections to give news to our golfers of our hardships with pythium, ataenius beetle and scorching summers many of you called me and commended me on my swift action of educating golfers through the use of newspapers on how rough things can get for us during the golfing season. You are just as right now to censure me when I have done the opposite and got the golfers on your backs. But please believe me it was unintentional. You see, this year I thought just for once I would be optimistic and say that things are going to be great and wonderful for 1978, enough bad news for a change I thought. You all know how expensive golf is getting to be especially at private clubs and Washington is now trying to make it even tougher to belong to a country club. So I thought a little optimism wouldn't hurt for a change. Well it did. I handled it wrong and I am extremely sorry if I have caused you, my fellow superintendents, any grief.

Very sincerely yours,

Paul N. Voykin
