IT IS GOOD PRACTICE

Question: Can the winter heave/thaw cycle kill grass plants?

Answer: Yes, especially young ones. During normal freeze/thaw winter cycles the grass plant can literally be pushed from the soil by the expansion and contraction of the ground. This action can sever roots or elevate the plant, making it more susceptible to desiccation. When this condition is apparent, it is good practice early in the spring to roll the ground lightly to force the grass crown back into contact with the soil.
