

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Bob Williams Retired

- Have you noticed the three “Fs” of how successful superintendents treat their staff and crew members? As Friends, as Family, with Firmness. Remember these three important Fs: friends, family, firm.

- Enthusiasm is contagious, but so is pessimism. Remember this when the going gets tough: We can . . . We will . . . We did.

- Obviously not all, but some, green committees take pleasure in building monuments to their “golf course architectural ignorance” by changing the features of their courses. Presently, it appears that many of the changes are of a subjective nature, usually dominated by the low handicappers. Long-range plans for architectural changes work best when dictated by majority opinion and survey of the membership.
