Legacy Awards' Application Deadline Nears

April 15 is the deadline for children and grandchildren of GCSAA members to apply for the 2004 Legacy Awards.

The Legacy Awards competition offers educational aid to the children and grandchildren of GCSAA members. Syngenta Professional Products funds the $1,500 awards, which are administered by The Environmental Institute for Golf (formerly The GCSAA Foundation).

Applications come under review by an independent committee consisting of six educators and/or college administrators. All decisions of the committee will be final. Applications should be postmarked by April 15. Applicants will be notified by mail of their status by June 15. Applicants will be evaluated based on academic achievement, extracurricular and community involvement, leadership and outside employment as well as their composition of an original essay, not exceeding 500 words and not previously submitted to GCSAA. Interested students should complete the application and must attach official transcripts from all high schools and colleges attended as well as a typed, original essay on one of the three following topics:

1. How have the events of 9-11 affected your life?
2. Who has been the most influential person in your life? Why?
3. How has your education contributed to who you are today?

Graduating high school seniors must also attach a college acceptance letter to their application.
