That Oakmont place looked OK, huh? Wow!

Last month in Golf Course Industry, Jeff Gerdes and Bolingbrook Golf Club were featured for a unique reason—they have become the home for a pair of wild swans and their 7 cygnets. Apparently wild swans on golf courses (or anywhere around these parts) are a rare thing, and to have a nesting pair take up residence is quite the feather in one's cap. Get it? Feather... Swans...The lengths a guy quill go to for a laugh...

Great news from Amanda and Jeff VerCautren of Rich Harvest Links—the couple had their second daughter on May 29. BreAnna VerCautren, along with mom and dad and sis are all happy, healthy, and home in time for the busy season.

If you are a sports radio listener, you might occasionally catch Mac, Jurko (or is it Yurko?), and Harry on ESPN AM 1000. If so, you may also have caught them mentioning “their guy” Don Ferreri when on the subject of golf. Occasionally Don (Seven Bridges Golf Club) contributes his knowledge to their show, and for his efforts he gets a little pub on the airwaves. I wanna be somebody’s “guy” too—it has to be cool to hear your name on the radio (unless it’s in the news and it’s something really bad that you did). [Ed note: John you can be my guy and I’ll let you write Bull Sheet every month]

Great job by Steve Daurer and everyone at The Glen Club for a highly successful LaSalle Bank Open this past May 31st through June 3rd. The OTHER sports radio station in Chicago was on site each day doing live broadcasts, and the course received rave reviews from all the different media outlets that were on hand. This Nationwide Tour is no minor-league deal—the LaSalle Bank Open was televised on Golf Channel all 4 days, and the purse was $750,000, with the winner taking home a nifty $135,000. Not bad for a few days’ work. Again, great work Steve and staff!

This month’s gratuitous sex photo—or is this simply a friendly game of leapfrog gone bad? I’m sure there’s a nasty reference to the French to be found here, but we won’t take that route. Let’s leave it at this—there is a bar in Warrenville called the Satisfied Frog. I now know where it got its name.

With golf course closings outnumbering openings this year, it’s nice to welcome the newest member of the Chicagoland golf course fraternity—White Tail Ridge Golf Club just outside Yorkville has opened for play as of last month. The Greg Martin design is situated on a gorgeous piece of land that includes low-lying wetlands as well as far-reaching views from the ridge where the Morgan Creek watershed is funneled down into the Fox River. Best of luck to superintendent Russ Wescott and Green Visions Golf on this exciting new venture.

There was another great article in national print from one of MAGCS’ own Class C members. Michael Heustis of Chicago Golf Club penned “Up For The Challenge?” for the May issue of Golf Course Industry highlighting the challenges that await the assistant superintendent as his or her career progresses. Great job, Michael.

Golf season is in full swing (ouch—another bad pun), and the MAGCS membership has had 2 recent events in which to participate.

Monday, May 14th found us at the beautiful Ivanhoe Club in Ivanhoe, IL, with Tom Prichard and Justin VanLanduit serving as our generous hosts. The day was windy and unseasonably warm—both understatements—and the course was again perfect. Some high scores were posted as a result of the blustery conditions in the 4-person blind-draw format, but everyone who played had a great time on a fabulous golf course. On hole #6 of the Forest course, Marsha Traves of Burris Equipment manned (womanned?) the betting hole with aplomb, exceeding the $1,000 goal by bringing in $1,025 for ITF research. Thank you to Marsha for her efforts. The day also honored a great friend of MAGCS as he moved on to the next phase of his career. Dr. Tom Fermanian of the University of Illinois, and in whose office the ITF was born, was feted with a moving tribute by longtime friend John Turner (Bayer Environmental Science) in recognition of his retirement. promised to remain active in turfgrass research, but also vowed to take some time to enjoy his retirement as well. We all wish nothing but the best for Tom—he will be missed. Once all the scores were added up (no small task), the golf prizes were awarded, including a Closest to the Pin for Justin VanLanduit; a Longest Putt for Jimmy Frels (Prime Turf); a Straightest Drive for yours truly; and a Closest to the Pin for Chris Smith (Chicago Heights PDGC). Other big winners included the raffle and auction participants who left with valuable stuff. Particular thanks go to Mike and Sharon Riesenbeck (Waupaca Sand and Solutions), Paul Carlson (Central Sod), and everyone else who generously donated prizes for the auction. Thanks also to the day's sponsors, without whom none of it could have been possible:

President's Club—BASF, Bayer Environmental Science, Central Sod Farms, Inc., Dunteman Turf Farms, H & E Sod Nursery – Town & Country Landscape Supply, Lesco, Inc., Nadler Golf Car Sales, Inc., Syngenta, and Turf Professionals Equipment Company.

Director's Club—BTSI, Chicagoland Turf, Growing Solutions, JW Turf, Inc., Lebanon Turf Products, and Palatine Oil Company.

Individual Tee Sponsors—Agrotain International, Burriss Equipment Company, Kaplan Trucking and Paving, Nels J. Johnson Tree Experts, Rabine Paving, and The Andersons. Finally, thank you to Tom Prichard, Justin VanLanduit and everyone at Ivanhoe for their great golf course, their hospitality, and their generosity. Ten stars!
