CHANGING TIMES

Old Bill he was a gardening man,
 Of skill in high degree;
 Few others could produce
 Near half as well as he.
 The folks around often asked him why
 Things grew so fast and sure;
 To which Bill always would reply:
 "I use racehorse manure."
 Bill had a daughter, fussy lass,
 Who sought her Pa to cure,
 And make him use a nicer word
 Instead of (ugh) "manure."
 So she called her Mother's aid
 To see could she advise her
 On any way to get her Pa
 To call it fertilizer.
 "You leave your Father be," said she,
 "His way you must endure;
 It took me twenty years to make
 Him call that stuff manure!"
