My Friend Walter

Tony Rzadzki, CGCS

For me, it all began one fall afternoon almost 19 years ago. I pulled into the maintenance yard at the Evanston Golf Club, a bit nervous, but full of expectation. For some reason—and I clearly remember this—I took the time to say a prayer. I asked the Lord that “if this job is meant to be, so be it . . . your will be done.” At that time in my life, I was a bit confused, still a kid at the age of 25, and still searching for some path to follow, somewhere to go with my life. Fortunately, destiny was about to answer my call. God heard my prayer and I went in to meet my new friend Walter.

Walter Fuchs
and Tony Rzadzki

It was really quite astonishing, that whole scene so long ago, and really quite marvelous. I tentatively knocked on the maintenance building's creaky metal door. A loud, boisterous voice yelled, “Come on in, it's open!” As I opened the door, here came Walter Fuchs climbing out of his chair, quickly walking to the door. I'll never forget that gleam in his eye, and that wonderful, warm, genuine smile. I grabbed his hand and he grabbed mine . . . and I had the job. The interview was over just about that quickly. For some reason, it was meant to be.

Walter was looking for a mechanic. I had a little experience, and all of that was with rotary mowers. Walter quickly asked me, “What do you know about reel mowers?” I nervously, but honestly, responded, “Nothing.”

“Good!” Walter brusquely replied. “I'll teach you my way! Do you know how to grind reels or sharpen bedknives?”

My Friend Walter

"No, I've never really seen any of that equipment," I sheepishly replied.

"Fine," Walter responded. "The last John Doe we had here nearly broke my grinding stone. When can you start?"

"Maybe in a couple days," I said. I couldn't believe it! I was getting this job!

"Good, I'll see you on Wednesday. Be here at 6 a.m." Walter shook my hand again in that big vise grip of his. I responded in kind, like my father taught me. You know, at times I've wondered if that handshake (the first one) really won Walter over. In any event, one week later I had made up my mind. I was so impressed with Walter and this type of work, I decided that I was going to become a golf course greenkeeper. At that time I had no idea that I would be the last one of a special breed.

Walter left a wonderful legacy behind.

He knew that rewards come to those who are true to their word, honest in their abilities and trustworthy of their God.

His fine family is a reflection of the character that Walter lived everyday.

I worked with Walter for four-and-a-half years. One of the things that really impressed me was his constant zeal, especially since he was in his mid-60s! Walter was never ashamed to grab a shovel, jump on a mower or go spray some more Daconil. After a year or two, I got a handle on the maintenance equipment, and I asked Walter if I could join the crew once my morning maintenance "chores" were done. He quickly took me under his wing and there I was, toe-to-toe with him in the ditches putting in drain tile, downing trees, sodding greens and spraying more Daconil.

After Walt retired, I continued down the career path I had embarked on. Walter had poured a strong foundation for me, helping develop my character. And even though Walt was far away in Florida, I knew that with a phone call I could hear his booming, confident voice once again. Walt traveled north every summer to make the rounds in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. He and wife Wilhelmina

Midwest Association Notes

Editor's Note: This is another article in a continuing series excerpted from the early editions of The Bulletin of the United States Golf Association Green Section. This month's article appeared in March 1937. It gives us a glimpse at our profession's concerns at that time.

Secretary's Notes

If correspondence and conversation is any indication, the past Washington Convention was one of the best conventions the Association has ever enjoyed.

We hope that this fine attendance and exhibit acts as a keynote for the revival of golf everywhere. The interest in N.A.G.A. membership has been the best in years,

Get to the Root of the Problem with BioGain® and Canteen™!

The best way to promote healthy turf is to maintain healthy roots. BioGain® WSP® and BioGain® WSP®(Fe) are a great first start for a roots maintenance program. Both biostimulants come in easy to use Water Soluble Packets and are excellent at reducing the impact of stress and stimulating root growth through enhanced water and nutrient uptake. In addition, BioGain(Fe) contains a 10% fully chelated iron for use with turf that displays an iron deficiency.

For added efficiency, use Canteen™ yucca extract based spreader and soil penetrant to deliver BioGain more effectively into the crown and root zone.

On Course With The President

While the search continues, assistants are forced to live on wages that are often one-third or even one-fourth of the compensation of their facilities' superintendents. It is not surprising that an assistant would take a superintendent's position for one-half the compensation of the previous superintendent because this still represents a huge increase in pay for that assistant. More important, it gives that assistant the opportunity to prove himself in his ultimate career goal.

I would never suggest that golf course superintendents should make less money to close the gap. I still believe that superintendents on average are underpaid. However, it may be time for individuals and associations to begin an education program for employers on the importance of the assistant's position and the rationale for increasing assistants' wages or offering them more benefits, such as expenses to go to the national conference. The same can be said for the mechanic's and foreman's positions. We must be willing to assist those who assist us. These people are critical to our success and they deserve our respect, appreciation and support. If we do not demonstrate the proper appreciation, our assistants could ultimately be the swords that sever us from our highly sought after positions.

always took the time to stop and visit me. After my father passed away in 1986, no one else in this world could come close to filling my dad's shoes, except Walter. I believe that during these latter years of Walt's life, his influence over me was more formative than during the few short years that we worked together. You see, under Walter's gruff demeanor and leathery skin was a soft heart of gold. As Walter (and I) grew older, I began to realize how deeply he trusted in God. One of his most-used phrases, "the good Lord willing," really began to sink in.

Walter left a wonderful legacy behind. He knew that rewards come to those who are true to their word, honest in their abilities and trustworthy of their God. His fine family is a reflection of the character that Walter lived everyday.

Walter taught me courage and confidence. The ability to accept any challenge (a trait that later in my life I would need desperately) developed within me for a reason. The reason being: I am the last one—the last greenkeeper Walter trained. In God's wonderful, providential plan, that handshake 19 years ago led me down a path that I am deeply thankful for. All because one man cared enough to take me under his wing and teach me the values necessary for success in life. What a grand distinction!

Walter affected and influenced countless lives all across this country. I may have been the last one, but I am proud to be part of the expansive list of great greenkeepers, long-time friends, and warm and loving family members for whom Walter cared so much. I hope that you, like me, will always remember that marvelous, genuine smile, and the warm, sparkling spirit Walter embodied his entire life. Here was a man to be truly proud of—a man that I was blessed to call my friend.

From your contributing editor: I know most MAGCS members are aware of the impending staff changes at On Course. To fill Fred's very large shoes, it is taking two of us: Cathy Ralston will be the managing editor of the magazine and will handle all articles and advertisements, while I—John Gurke—will tackle the contributing editor position with my primary responsibility being the Bull Sheet section. Please be patient during the transition—we'll try (with Fred's help) to make it as smooth as possible. For the time being, fax me Bull Sheet information at 630-801-7989. An e-mail address and office phone number will follow.

It is my privilege to congratulate Fred Opperman on being presented the Charles Bartlett Award at the March CDGA Greens Seminar at Medinah C.C. Fred's name joins a veritable hall of fame group of past recipients including Tim Kelly, Peter Luezingler, Julius Albaugh, Oscar Miles, Bob Williams and Ray Gerber. Upon accepting the award, which honors achievement in the field of journalism and public relations, Fred was his usual gracious self, deflecting the limelight back to these predecessors. Kudos, Fred!

Irrigation law update: It no longer would take a licensed plumber to install lawn or golf course irrigation lines under a Senate bill approved recently (Senate Bill 457). The bill would reverse an Illinois Supreme Court ruling last year that suburban lawn care companies contend would put many of their employees out of work and raise costs to homeowners. This newfangled, common-sense approach to government just might catch on . . .

Milwaukee C.C. is currently seeking a full-time arborist. Applicants must have ability to climb, trim, prune, apply plant protectants and fertilizers, and water. Benefits include: health, dental and life insurance; paid vacation; 401k plan; and golfing privileges. High school graduate or equivalent preferred. Arborist certification a plus. Must be able to secure Turf and Ornamental Pest certification. Salary: negotiable based on qualifications.
