FOREWORDS PRESIDENT, PUBLICATIONS CHAIRMAN 2
President Scott Bell says ethics is a matter of professionalism and respect. ...Greg Plotner says a management group taking over a golf course is not necessarily a negative event in a superintendent's career.

SPOTLIGHT 66TH ANNUAL GCSA CONFERENCE AND SHOW 8
Florida Green Editor Joel Jackson left his kit in San Francisco, but recalls mainly some career-enhancing events... A Florida superintendent, Gary Grigg, CGCS, is now president of the GCSAA... The Florida Green shines again... South Florida and Everglades Chapters hold well-attended educational events.

COVER STORY THE SANCTUARY AT WULFERT POINT 28
Credited as Sanibel's first settlement, Wulfert Point was the Calusa Indians' home for nearly a thousand years as recently as 800 AD. It's now a wildlife sanctuary and preserve and — a golf course.

HEADS UP: INTEGRATED PEST MANAGEMENT 46
IPM is a management plan that utilizes a variety of control measures to keep turfgrass pest populations below levels that are economically and aesthetically damaging. This is the fifth in a six-part series on the Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary Program.

HANDS ON PROFESSIONALISM 62
Ethics and professional development are discussed by members of our organization.

THE FLORIDA TOUR WHERE THE PROS PLAY? 68
Florida is the home of many professional golf tournaments. Here begins the first of three reports on the courses hosting these tournaments and the challenge undertaken by the superintendents and their staffs to get courses in tournament shape.

RESEARCH BLUE-GREEN ALGAE 76
Blue-green algae appear to be the predominant species associated with bermudagrass putting greens and tees in the southeastern U.S. A report by Monica Elliott and Marcus Prevatte.

HEALTH & SAFETY DEATH LURKS IN THE SUNSHINE 84
If you think working in the sun is healthy, don't be so eager to take off your shirt.

AFTERWORDS: JARRELL, JACKSON 86
Jarrell is optimistic about the golf industry while Jackson seeks professionalism in the world of Forrest Gump.
