

Graves' courses take form in West, Northwest

Robert Muir Graves is designing or re-designing six courses in California, one in Idaho and one in Washington with scheduled 1989-1990 opening dates.

The Walnut Creek, Calif., golf course architect intends a November opening for Mountain Springs Golf Club in Sonoma, Calif.

Yardage measurements range from 6,770 to 5,355 for the 18-hole semi-private daily fee course owned by Kim Daters and Al Huber and being built by Randall Carne. Mountain Springs is in the heart of gold country.

Sonoma Golf Club in Sonoma, Calif., is targeted for opening in the fall, though it could be next spring.

This 18-hole daily fee links is an existing course originally designed by Sam Whitting. Graves is renovating Sonoma to its original design. Fuji Country USA is the owner.

Spring openings are scheduled for Cherry Island Golf Club in Sacramento, Calif.; Las Positas Golf Club in Livermore, Calif.; and Whispering Forest Golf Club in McCall, Idaho, while August 1990 is the target completion date for the 18-hole, 7,100-yard, par 72 daily fee Oceanic Bakersfield.

Cherry Island, being built by Dutra Construction for the city of Sacramento, will be 18 holes, 6,900 yards, par 72 and daily fee. The first new county course in Sacramento in 20 years, it's bisected by two creeks and built through an oak woodland.

Because of airport expansion, Las Positas will be a unique combination of 16 new holes and a remodeling of 11 holes. Nine new holes are being designed, nine holes will be executive, and the previous front nine is being remodeled.

The municipal setup owned by the city of Livermore lists Valley Crest Landscape as builder. Yardage is from 6,779 to 5,650.

Whispering Forest's additional semi-private nine holes of 3,430 yards, to go with the first nine's 3,242, is being carved from mountain wilderness. Marv Whiteman is the owner.

Meanwhile, planning is far along on Avalon Golf Course in Skagit Valley, Wash. Being planned by Ron Hass of Sudden Valley Golf and Country Club in Bellingham, Wash., the 27-hole daily fee course will wind around two old quarries and fir woods.

Graves is also designing an 18-hole public course for the city of Fairfield, Calif.
