GCSAA funding

Association's research programs.

"GCSAA has been providing funds for turfgrass research grants and student scholarships for more than 35 years, but the demands are growing and our board has made development one of its top priorities," said GCSAA Executive Director John M. Schilling.

"Dedicating full-time staff to this effort is evidence of GCSAA's commitment to providing the scientific knowledge and educational resources the professional superintendents of the future will need."

Pat Jones

Now we'd like to complement the USGA's efforts with some real-time studies to document that properly maintained golf courses are environmentally sound.'

— Pat Jones, GCSAA
Development Director

Jones said the Robert Trent Jones Fund, the primary funding source for scholarships, currently contains about $250,000. Increasing that to $1 million will allow the GCSAA to finance its regular turfgrass research scholarships (which amount to as much as $30,000 annually), graduate scholarships, Legacy Awards for GCSAA family members and additional scholarships from the interest the fund will earn.

The GCSAA is also studying new ways to meet national and regional research needs that will "complement the outstanding work the USGA is already sponsoring in the areas of turf breeding and environmental research," Schilling said.

One project under consideration would establish one or more research centers on new or existing golf courses.

"A GCSAA research center could give us the opportunity to perform key studies of practices on actual golf courses and be a place for education and training as well," Schilling said.

Jones said he considered his new post "a real challenge" and that there are "some amazing opportunities for GCSAA to become a leading force in research."

The association has worked with the USGA since 1983, co-funding projects that have led to new strains of Bermudagrass and buffalograss.

"The USGA has concentrated on university-based research," Jones said. "We've looked at the GCSAA as the delivery system for the benefits of that research."

"Now we'd like to complement the USGA's efforts with some real-time studies to document that properly maintained golf courses are environmentally sound. We don't want to be redundant or duplicate anyone's research. We'll stress work on golf courses. How much we fund will depend on the nature of the projects."

Jones said he will contact individuals and GCSAA members, as well as foundations and corporations inside and outside the golf industry in the coming months to help fund the new program.

Dormant seeding

Poa with bentgrass in late summer (when Poa is at its strongest stage) to achieve a greater bentgrass population, Ross suggests waiting until late fall and dormant seeding. The dormant-seeded bentgrass should germinate in early spring when Poa is at its weakest stage.

Second, using Round Up before the Poa goes dormant, followed by dormant seeding of bentgrass, can help the bentgrass population.

"I'd try experimenting with a conversion program on a few par-3 fairways first to see how it works," Ross advised. "Bentgrass can get the best of Poa in the spring when Poa is basically just lying there."

The best time to dormant seed varies with the region, Ross said. In Southern Maine, Nov. 8-12 works best. Later seeding resulted in later germination come spring.

Ross isn't certain why dormant seeding works. He theorizes that the first two steps in the germination process — water absorption by the seed followed by the swelling that initiates biochemical and morphological events — are accomplished in the fall and early winter. The primed seed then freezes with the enzyme and carbohydrate processes that occur during actual germination going dormant. Come spring, the partially germinated seed has a three- to five-week jump on spring-planted seeds.
