Landmark auction set for July

By HAL PHILLIPS

NEW ORLEANS — An open cry auction is scheduled here in mid-July for the purpose of selling off the golf course properties formerly owned by the now-defunct Landmark Land Co.

The open cry format — the common, nod-and-wink style used in the art world — is one of the few details to be hammered out by the Resolution Trust Corp. and its advisor, Kidder, Peabody & Co. Whether the properties will be bid upon individually or in groups has yet to be determined.

However, the open cry format should survive scrutiny, according to RTC spokesperson Anne Freeman.

"I don't see how this format would be offensive to anyone," she said. "With a sealed-bid format, nobody really knows what others have bid. This way, everyone knows where they stand."

The RTC's original proposal has already passed muster with Judge Falcon B. Hawkins' Federal Bankruptcy Court. Any proposal by the RTC, which has operated the six golf and resort properties since Landmark entered receivership in September 1992, must also be

Ladies' league grows with help of club daycare

By PETER BLAIS

PEWAUKEE, Wis. — Willow Run Golf Club took a lesson from the bowling industry to increase rounds, sales and profits.

Several players in the club's Wednesday morning Ladies' League wondered aloud one day why the club didn't offer a nursery area for young children, like the local bowling center.

Not only would a similar set-up at Willow Run make life simpler for them, they believed, it would probably attract more players who would love to join a golf league, but couldn't find daycare.

General Manager Kay Shaffer decided to do some research. She soon discovered how expensive it was to license and obtain insurance for a full-blown daycare facility.

Bowling centers were able to avoid those expenses by calling their area a playroom rather than daycare, Shaffer said. But a name change alone wasn't enough for the insurance company to forego added liability insurance requirements.

Bowling centers are able to avoid the added premiums since parents are on the premises. If a child gets hurt, the sitter goes to the front desk, finds out what lane the parent is using, and child and parent are quickly reunited. Easy.

But a golf course is far different. Instead of 30 lanes, a sitter would have to search 150 acres or more to find a parent. The on premises criteria is much tougher to meet.

After several months of research, the insurance company came back with a proposal. Require parents to use a golf car. Record the golf car number and what hole the parent starts on. If an accident occurs, the parent's whereabouts should be relatively easy to figure out and the cart would allow her to return quickly to the playroom.

Do that, the insurance company said, and Willow Run would meet the on premises requirement. No additional insurance would be needed.

Shaffer decided to give it a try. She hired a half-dozen employees, many of them existing staffers, to work in the playroom for 2-1/2 hours Wednesday

When lightning strikes... Are you liable?

By JAMES C. KOZLOWSKI

In recent months, I have heard some media reports and received some anecdotal information of liability associated with a golf course operator's failure to have a system in place to warn of approaching lightning storms.

As illustrated by the Hames decision described herein, such weather conditions would ordinarily be considered an open and obvious natural hazard. As a general rule, there is no legal duty to warn of such conditions which should be apparent through the reasonable use of one's own senses, including approaching lightning storms.

Within this context, the law would require adequate warnings under limited circumstances wherein the landowner should be aware of a hidden or latent risk which recreational users would not be expected to know and appreciate. Accordingly, an adequate warning simply takes a hidden hazard and makes it open and obvious. Conversely, there is usually no legal duty to warn of natural conditions which are already open and obvious.

As noted by the court in this decision, customs, practices and usages in a field are indicative of the applicable legal standard of care. In this particular instance, the court
