Legacy seeks to keep owner involved in management

By J. BARRY MOTHES

WELLINGTON, Fla. — Originally, Steven Braley thought he wanted to start a golf management company for the newest phase of a successful golf industry career that has spanned more than 20 years.

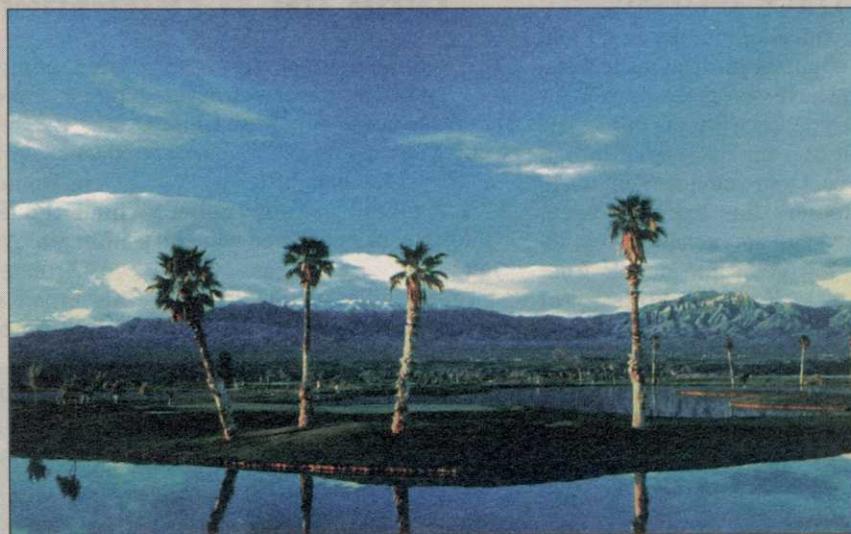

He quickly decided, however, that that idea was too simplistic and restricting. Braley — who worked for Landmark Land Co. for nearly 20 years alongside some of the most active, visionary and successful golf management executives and became vice president himself — did want to manage golf courses. But he wanted to do it in a way that directly involved owners and operators in a hands-on, give-and-take, learning relationship. And so, the Legacy Golf Group, a golf management consulting firm offering everything from nuts-and-bolts, day-to-day management plans and construction supervision to clubhouse and golf course business plans and financial evaluations, was born.

"We're not a typical management company," Braley said. "We're an alternative to the stereotypical management-type company. I'm not really pursuing long-term management contracts, that's not what I set out to do. My services diminish the longer I'm involved with a project and the more the owner becomes comfortable and understands the business."

Braley, who is also a former professional golfer, launched the Legacy Golf Group in 1994. His first project was the Virginia Oaks golf course outside Manassas, Va., which opened in the spring of 1995.

"I got a call one day from P.B. Dye and Brian Bowles and they were looking for professional management

The Oasis Golf Club (above) recently signed OB Sports to manage the 45-hole complex.

OB Sports strengthens itself in Vegas

MESQUITE, Nevada — OB Sports' recent agreement to manage the 45-hole Oasis Golf Club has solidified the Portland, Ore.-based firm's position as one of the leading, if not the leading management company, in the Las Vegas market.

WSR Inc., the parent company for Si Redd's Oasis Resort Hotel and Casino and the Mesquite Vistas planned residential community, selected OB to manage the project's golf operations. OB Sports already owns and manages two upscale public golf properties, The Legacy and Angel Park in Las Vegas with several similar properties on the West Coast.

The Oasis Golf Club has received national attention for its Arnold Palmer-designed course, which was named in the top five new resort courses in 1995 by Golf Digest magazine. The Oasis Resort has 1,000 hotel rooms and a 300-room golf village, which OB plans to use to help promote stay-and-play golf programs.

"We felt their [OB Sports] expertise in high-end, resort-style operations and their extensive network in Las Vegas made them a perfect fit for our management needs," said WSR Inc. President Alan Green.

OB named Van Batchelder project manager for The Oasis. For the past nine years, Batchelder served as director of golf for Los Callaberos Golf Club in Wickenburg, Ariz.

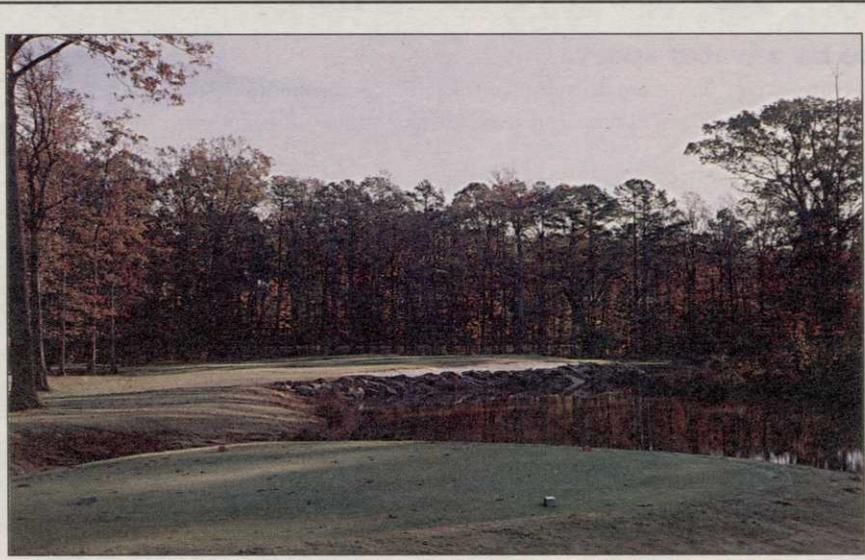

"We view The Oasis as a very prestigious project deserving of a golf professional familiar with the Southwest market, and one who will produce the premium level of services and conditions desired by The Oasis and OB Sports," said OB Vice President of Southwest Operations Phil Green.

Green and Bob Marshall were recently named to their vice president of operations posts. Marshall will oversee the development and operations of all Pacific Northwest facilities while Green will assume a parallel role for all properties in the Southwest.

Marshall was an original co-founder of OB Sports along with current president Orrin Vincent (Orrin and Bob = OB), and has managed all operations for Teton Pines Golf Club in Jackson, Wyo., for the past 11 years.

"Bob and I remained best friends even though he stayed with Teton Pines under the new ownership," remarked Vincent. "Now that we have two operations in Portland, and are

COPPER MOUNTAIN, Colo. — The folks at Intrawest have reached the literal pinnacle of North American golf with the recent purchase of Copper Creek Golf Club, reputed to be the highest golf course on the continent.
