Poa annua control finally within sight

By MARK LESLIE

SAN DIEGO — A control for annual bluegrass, or poa annua, has been the desire of the golf course industry for at least half a century. Now it appears one has arrived, and the bonus is that it is a natural bacteria.

"If this works as well as it appears, it's huge [for the industry]. I'm excited," said Dr. Joe Vargas of Michigan State University about the bacteria Xanthomonas campestris. "When I got into this business in the 1950s we were talking about how to get rid of poa annua. Here we are, 40 years later, talking about how to get rid of poa. And the market is almost nationwide."

Acutely selective, Xanthomonas campestris kills only poa annua, not

Purdue embarks on 5-year course research project

By MARK LESLIE

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — With the help of course architect Pete Dye, multiple donors and a group of students who built it, Purdue University on June 27 will open a golf course that will produce a major five-year study on the effects of golf maintenance on ground and surface water.

Pointing out that environmentalists criticize past corporate-funded studies as biased, Dye said: "What Purdue produces should be the most unbiased report, simply because there is no reason to be biased. Good or bad, no one can argue

The Shark and Hurdzan keynote Public Golf Forum

By MICHAEL LEVANS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — The Shark's clipped fin may keep him off the PGA Tour but it's certainly not slowing him down.

Greg Norman, golf's premier international spokesman and all-time money winner, will kick off day two of this year's Public Golf Forum, the Golf Course News-sponsored business conference and expo for superintendents, owners, managers and developers of public access golf facilities on October 26 & 27 at Rancho Las Palmas Marriott Resort in Palm Springs, California.

Greece: Will 30 courses in 3 years be possible?

By TREVOR LEDGER

ATHENS, Greece — The Greek Government has made a startling commitment to golf course development with its stated intention of having 30 new golf courses built in its beautiful country over the next three years.

As the rest of Europe (on the whole) leaped into the golf course stratosphere—43.9 percent increase in courses since 1990—Greece has bucked the trend by actually losing one of its five courses and leaving the country with only four.

This looks all set to change.

The Hellenic Tourism Office (EOT) hosted a meeting at Wentworth last July for golf course architects, holiday companies and tourism specialists in order to out-
