

IN THIS ISSUE

COLUMNS

- 14 Irrigation issues
Brian Vinchesi: From the Show Floor
- 22 Outside the ropes
Tim Moraghan: Less is Definitely Not More
- 32 The Monroe Doctrine
Monroe Miller: An Assist from Leopold and Thoreau
- 42 Design Concepts
Jeffrey D. Brauer: Better Billy Bunkers
- 54 Johnny Turf Nerd
John Kaminski: The Perfect Circle
- 60 Game plan
Henry DeLozier: Sustain the Ripple
- 65 From Dodson, with Love
Ron Dodson and Bill Love: Attitude Adjustment
- 74 Parting shots
Pat Jones: Purple Cow, Redux

DEPARTMENTS

- 4 Teeing off
Talking to Myself
- 6 Letters
- 10 The Whiteboard
- 72 Travels with Terry
Equipment ideas
- 73 Classifieds
- 73 Ad index

16

AFTER THE FIRE

In 2011, fire consumed FarmLinks maintenance facility. The hard lessons they learned to build it back.

FEATURES

- 24 BLAME IT ON THE WEATHERMAN
Turf Health
New research out of Wisconsin shows that weather may have an impact on fungicides.
- 34 DEAD TO RIGHTS
Turf Health
Don't be fooled. Identify the tell-tale signs of spring dead spot early on so it doesn't become a season-long scourge.
- 44 HARD HAT REQUIRED BEYOND THIS POINT
Construction
Instead of creating a master plan for course renovations, a better approach is to compose smaller, more attainable projects to tackle.
- 48 THE ROAD TO RECOVERY
Construction
Summer heat devastated the new tee boxes at Makray Memorial Golf Club. Superintendent Timothy Christians details his path toward reestablishing even stronger turf.
- 56 SPRING INTO ACTION
Turf Maintenance
A comprehensive spring weed control management program begins with preemergent herbicides.
- 62 JOIN. PARTICIPATE. GET INVOLVED.
Professional Development
The rewards are many for industry involvement. What's your excuse?
- 66 TWIST AND SHOUT NO MORE
Super Solutions
Plastic lattice provides a simple solution to overstressed green collars.
- 68 YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A NEW BACTERIAL DISEASE
Real Science
While research – and questions – about bacterial wilt continues, some puzzle pieces are falling into place.

62

56