

Sunday morning and at noon a group of nearly one hundred paid a visit to the M. A. C. turf plots.

Carl E. Treat, president of the New England Greenkeepers' Association presided at the afternoon meeting and introduced mind. There was more note-taking than Colonel Morley who made a splendid address. Paul Whithead, president of the Connecticut body, was also a platform guest of honor.

year and the total attendance would be boosted considerably beyond this mark as many did not stop to leave their names. From year to year the exhibition draws more heavily from out of State. Included among those who registered were twenty-five from Connecticut, eight from Pennsylvania, O. J. Noer was in the group from Wisconsin, and the States of New York, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maine, Virginia, Illinois, and Ohio were also represented. Although greenkeepers and greenchairmen were perhaps in the majority, there was a greater number of members of park commissions this year, an encouraging sign that more and more municipalities are interested in the construction and maintenance of city courses.

Enroll for Next Year

Although it is hard to differentiate between groups Professor Dickinson considers that this year's class compares favorably with any previously. As is the case every year there were several new features and no efforts were spared to make the course practical and worthwhile. The botany department was called upon this winter and Doctor Davis gave an interesting course on plant growth, a subject of immense importance to the greenkeeper.

Three greenkeepers assisted Professor Dickinson for varying periods during the course, Jay M. Heald of the Greenfield C. C., Marston Burnett of the Albemarle G. C., and Carl E. Treat of the Woodland C. C. Throughout the course a period was set aside each day for a discussion of some problem or a talk by a seedsman, a golf architect, or a prominent greenkeeper.

Many applications have already been received for next winter's course, several of them from a considerable distance. M.

A. C. continues to be the only institution in the country giving a course lasting so long and covering the maintenance field so fully. It is perhaps well located in Massachusetts though, for there are over 200 courses in this Commonwealth.
