

the maximum pleasure from the game of golf. Our clubs east of the Rocky mountains are slowly discovering this fact, and accordingly general irrigation is spreading slowly, but surely, among the stronger clubs, and in a very few years will be classed as a necessity instead of a luxury; for fairway irrigation is indeed a necessity, if we are to have the very finest turf, and the greatest pleasure from our golf.

CORRECTION—In the September installment of the Miller series on fairway watering two illustrations were incorrectly captioned. The view described as "interior of Eden pumphouse" actually showed the emergency pumping installation in the stadium grounds to supply University of Michigan golf course new seeding.

The California hoseless outlet and portable sprinkler was incorrectly described as a "concealed sprinkler."

Canadians Hold Second Show of Course Equipment

ONTARIO greenkeepers held their second golf course equipment and supply exhibition and demonstration at the Royal York G. C., Toronto, Sept. 9. The event was first held in 1928 and allowed to lapse during 1929. This year's revival was marked by a large attendance of both course maintenance men and manufacturers and won enthusiastic comment for the practical manner in which it was handled.

W. J. Sansom, H. Hawkins, H. Lloyd, W. Kirby, F. Hamm, J. Austin, J. Stanfield, C. W. Freeman, A. McCallum, J. Abbot, J. Anderson and F. Haynes comprised the committee conducting the exhibition.

Working demonstrations of equipment were given by various manufacturers and greenkeepers provided with an excellent opportunity to make close-up comparisons under actual operation conditions. It now is the intention of the Canadian greenkeepers to make the equipment demonstration an annual fixture.

Quebec greenkeepers made up a goodly percentage of the 200 in attendance at the affair.
