JUNE MEETING of the N-E N. Y. Greenkeepers' association at Troy C. C. was attended by 30 superintendents and pros. Highlights of the meeting were demonstrations of Ideal and Jacobsen power mowers, a showing of Stumpp & Walter's brown-patch movie "Golf Hazards," a proposal that the association publish a monthly greens bulletin, and numerous speeches on general maintenance topics by authorities in attendance. Next meeting is scheduled for July 20 at Sir William Johnson C. C., Gloversville, N. Y.

"Annual Golf Review" Makes Bow to Golfers

WITH AN IMPRESSIVE list of contributors and with several hundred photographs and diagrams to assure reader interest, the 1932 Annual Golf Review, edited by William D. Richardson and Lincoln A. Werden, right now is available for 25c per copy on newsstands, in bookstores and direct from the publishers, the Golfer's Yearbook Co., 6 East 45th street, New York City. It is a pleasing addition to current golf literature.

The Review has the format of a popular magazine and editorially treats of such lesson subjects as "Playing the Irons," by Tommy Armour; "How to Hole 'Em," by Johnny Farrell; "Out of the Sand," by
