everywhere." The Beckley-Ralston Co. will donate Stroke-Saver clubs as prizes for both low net and low gross for men and women at each club in the Chicago district. The contest began Saturday (May 28th) and continues to July 4, inclusive, and is open to every club member. There is no entrance fee.

The matter of bringing the club champions into a contest to determine the putting championship of the Chicago district is being considered. Indications are that the entries will be large.

CHAPMAN, RING AND B. POINSETT IN NEW L. A. YOUNG LINEUP

Detroit, Mich.—E. E. Chapman, who has been with the L. A. Young Golf Co., makers of Walter Hagen equipment, since its inception, has been made general sales manager of that organization, vice T. G. Philpot, resigned. Chapman is an experienced man in the golf field, in general retailing and in sales management. Prior to his promotion he was in charge of Ohio territory for the Hagen outfit, making his headquarters at Columbus.

Walter Ring, widely known in the golf field, and a veteran with the Young company, will cover general field activities as "Chap's" team-mate. Ring has been in charge of the New York headquarters there, although greeting many dawns with his eyelids ballasted by mainline roadbed and bus dust.

Ben Poinsett, who has been teamed with his brother Allen in Young's New York office, has been transferred to the Pacific Coast branch of the Walter Hagen Young Men's Society for Sales and Steam.

Rest of the batting order remains the same. Mr. Tom Robbins and his assistant, Master Jim McGonnigle, Texas amateurs, who were transferred to the Young Chicago office by previous G. H. Q. orders, are doing prettily in the metropolitan time and finding 36 holes of Chicago sap jack very much to their liking each and every Sabbath.
