GET THIS highly engineered machine for putting new life in Greens.

Hundreds of stainless steel spikes punch millions of holes in the turf to let in oxygen, sunshine, water and new top dressing.

Oscillating action of spikes produces mild, safe cultivation of grass roots without injury to turf.

Opening of soil surface allows quicker and better action of chemicals and fertilizers. Frequent aeration of turf prevents Brown Patch and other diseases.

McClain Spiker and Perforator has bronze and roller bearings; Alemite oiling; extra weights for hard Greens; special transport wheels; and many other new and valuable features. Easily operated by hand or power. Write for literature.

IN the Detroit News hole-in-one contest, conducted by the paper's noted golf editor, John Walter, 217 players took turns for 11 hours banging at the 155-yard eleventh of the Clinton Valley CC. Contestants ages ranged from a 75-year-old doctor to a 13-year-old 70-pound caddie.

Nearest to the hole of the 1,085 shots was 1 ft. 7 in., made by Lewis Woodward, an amateur. Second was 1 ft. 9 in., made by a woman. First in the pro class was Albert Sherwood, Clinton Valley greenkeeper, who put one of the five balls allowed each competitor 2 ft. 8 in. from the cup.

HALF-MADE pros, the result of depression years in golf, may cause trouble to Class-A professionals, believes Bill Klish, young Eastern pro. Klish says that failure of present-day pros to give assistants the thorough training old-time pros demanded of their apprentices, and the inability to help the graduate assistants land jobs where they can make up for time invested as assistants, has sharply reduced the crop of first-class newcomers in pro ranks.

Klish further maintains that the development of good games by amateurs will throw many of these amateurs into jobs without adequate training, simply because of the pro lack of interest in training young men to maintain the high standards the veterans have set.

THE British PGA, which had a charter membership of 70, now has about 1,600 members.

GOLF'S MARKET PLACE

The Golf Recorder, a golf swing device that records every shot made, whether it be sliced, hooked, pushed or pulled—250 yards or 25 yards—is proving a popular selling item among pros, and to golfers who want to make the most of the lessons they are taking from their pros. The 1938 Golf Recorder is a new and improved model from that introduced last year, and is offered for $5 under the price of the former model.

There are no balls to tee up—target is made of resilient combination fabric and rubber and is always in perfect tee position, ready for every shot. Full recording of each shot remains in view until you release it by pressing clubhead on plunger at base of indicators, and the Recorder is reset for the next shot. If you hook or slice, the Golf Recorder reveals that—shows the direction of ball-travel and the extent it goes into the rough; and if there is a weak spot in the swing, it can be corrected.

Golf Recorder is guaranteed to give satisfactory service. It measures 39 inches long, tee is made of hard fibre and will withstand very hard usage. Extra target and wood carrying case are furnished. Complete outfit sells for $14.50, and is one dollar higher west of Denver. Further details can be had upon writing Golf Recorder, 325 N. Wells St., Chicago.

Arthur D. Peterson Co., Inc., 420 Lexington Ave., N. Y. C., have issued their 1938 supplement to their regular catalog and turf manual, which they will gladly mail free upon request.

The shoes pictured here are not just any old pair, of course. They belonged to Walter Hagen and were worn by him while winning several of his string of 41 championships. Now they are silver plated and mounted on a mahogany base and serve as the trophy in the Erskine Park (South Bend, Ind.) annual approaching and putting competition. They are mounted in Hagen's exact putting position.

R. Otto Probst, president of the Erskine Park club, and incidentally the owner of the largest golf library in the world, conceived the idea of this novel trophy and the L. A. Young Co., Detroit, is the donor.

Realizing the quandry most golf club green committees find themselves when contemplating the installation of golf course irrigation, Buckner Mfg. Co., Elizabeth, N. J., have prepared a comprehensive booklet, "A Guide to Modern Golf Course Irrigation," which is designed to answer any and all questions relating to club irrigation problems.

The booklet discusses the importance of correct procedure in the design and building a complete irrigation system. Enumerated in order they are: how much water is needed; determine the source of water and the possible rate of flow; select the type of system, the sprinkler pattern, the sprinklers to be used, the operating pressure, and the total rate of flow per minute; determine the pump and power, if

Get in that "LUCKY PUNCH" EARLY!

Don't underestimate the savageness of brown patch. It strikes swiftly, killingly. The time to paralyze its power is before it gets under way—with regular, effective applications of Special SEMESAN or the other tried and proved Du Bay fungicides, Regular SEMESAN or Nu-Green!

Special SEMESAN gives liberal and exact turf coverage—one pound treating 6,000 square feet of turf for as little as $1.29. Fewer applications are needed. That's why it offers you such sensible, practical and economical protection for your greens. Easily applied in water solution or dry with compost. Used in solution, it does not damage the spray rig—so you have less sprayer repairs to add to your application cost. Two organic mercury ingredients assure high effectiveness, yet the cost is low: 5 lbs., $7.00; 25 lbs., $33.00; 100 lbs., $129.00. Order from your supply house, and send Quickmail coupon 19 for free Turf Disease Pamphlet.

OTHER BROWN PATCH FUNGICIDES

Regular Semesan, the original brown patch fungicide, and Nu-Green, the preventive which also hastens recovery of infected turf, are also available to all greenkeepers who prefer them. Regular Semesan: 5 lbs., $9.90; 25 lbs., $45.50; 100 lbs., $180.00; 300 lbs., $535.00. Nu-Green: 5 lbs., $6.30; 25 lbs., $29.00; 100 lbs., $115.00; 300 lbs., $338.00.

Golfers in Houston, Texas, witnessed a startling performance this spring, when the Acushnet Process Co. driving machine, playing the new Acushnet Titleist ball, hit the pin five times at a distance of 400 yards on the No. 1 hole at the Brae Burn CC.

Later in the day, Claude Hastings, demonstrating the merits of Acushnet balls with this remarkable machine, set up the Acushnet trailer at River Oaks CC and smashed several Acushnet balls well over the green with a cross-wind blowing on No. 1, a 396 yard hole.

After the driving demonstration, golf fans looked at the Acushnet balls through an X-ray machine and found that their perfect centers had in no way been affected by even this abnormally severe test.

Thousands of golfers will have an opportunity this year to see the Acushnet trailer, with its famous driving machine

A new type of golf ball vending machine has been invented by Tom Morris, veteran pro, and is being made by the Allied Screw Machine Co., 609 W. Lake St., Chicago. The machine was introduced by Tom in England last summer and now is in use at many of the prominent British clubs. It is made as a game of skill, not of chance, and on that account received approval of British police and legal authorities who are tough on American mechanical gambling equipment.

The machine is adjustable so the pro can control the extent of skill required. The manufacturers recommend setting so the odds are for a 75 cent ball coming out in return for three quarters dropped in for the game. There also is a 10 cent machine for vending cheaper balls.

The player drops in his coin and releases miniature balls that are knocked into pay-off slots when the player actuates the machine's clubhead mechanism. When balls hit the right slots the ball pay-off occurs automatically.

Tom strongly advocates setting the machine on a sales promotion basis with the customer getting a fair chance of winning one, two or three balls. He cites numerous cases to show the profit of this policy in boosting shop ball sales well past
