

that if some one of his and MacGregor's very good friends failed to receive one of these holiday greeting cards not to feel slighted; there have been so many revisions in their mailing list (moves, changed jobs, men going into the service and so on) that it's difficult to keep track of everyone.

Up to the first of the year, twenty-three MacGregor men from field, branch offices and the factory had joined some branch of the service.

Among them are: Sgt. Robert Randolph located in the Field Artillery at Camp Roberts, California—former Purchasing Agent. Sgt. Randolph also is awaiting call to Officers' Candidate School. Sgt. Warren Beardslee, serving in the Air Corps at Patterson Field, Ohio, was formerly in the MacGregor Boston office and for the past year was in charge of all branch office supervision in Dayton. Corp. Charles Becka, in Iceland, served the company in Dayton and more recently in Boston. Private R. F. Duncan, located at Camp Croft, South Carolina, formerly was a salesman covering Long Island and New Jersey; he now is awaiting call to Officers' Candidate School.

Others in the Army are: Cecil Atchley, Clyde Blair, H. Patrick Boltz, Donald Doogan, Herbert Eldridge, George Smith, Dan Snyder, Robert Wilson, John Candrum, Courtney Brown, Michael Farina, and Donald Zink. Serving in the Navy are: Charles Carl, Ensign, U.S.N., now located at Pearl Harbor, T. H. He formerly served in a sales capacity in Dayton, Chicago, and Boston. Seaman Wm. J. McNulty is at the Naval Storekeeper's School, Toledo. He was a MacGregor salesman covering Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana. Others at present in the Navy include: Jack Gruber, Thomas Hall, Edward Kimmich, and Marvin Lantis.

One MacGregor man, Ted Clarkson, joined the Marine Corps.

U. S. Rubber to Handle Burgett Sales

United States Rubber Co. announces an agreement has been reached with The K. L. Burgett Co., Peoria, Ill., whereby the Golf Ball Dept. of the United States company has the exclusive sales agency for certain well-known products manufactured by the Burgett company in the United States except Florida, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, and Eastern Tennessee (east of and including Nashville).

The products for which orders will be solicited by representatives of the U. S. Golf Ball Dept. men are:

Parglovs—A quality line of golf gloves, in a variety of styles and grades. This line consists of both right-hand and left-hand gloves, full finger or half finger, of different grades, and in a range of sizes for both men and women golfers.

Parhoods—A line of golf club-head covers. Made either of leather or a very durable fabric called Tackle Twill in a variety of colors, and in sets of either three or four for both men's and women's wood clubs.

These items are well known and have already gained an enviable reputation among golf pros and golfers. First reports from "U. S." representatives who have already begun to solicit orders for immediate and spring delivery, indicate that the quality and reputation of these items are well established and assure a sizeable volume of business.

Pros who have not yet ordered an initial supply of Parglovs and Parhoods for immediate or spring delivery are urged to get in touch with their U. S. Golf Ball representative at once to insure prompt deliveries of these items when they are required.

General Knudsen Inspects Spalding War Plant

KNUDSEN SEES SPALDING WAR WORK

Army ordnance officials headed by Gen. Knudsen recently visited A. G. Spalding & Bros. to inspect the company's progress in production of war materials. W. T. Brown (right), Spalding vice-president in charge of manufacturing, conducts Knudsen (left) and Major Collins (center) on a tour through one of the Spalding plants.
