Down South, of course, where golf normally spends the winter, Marjorie Row of Anniston, Ala., on January 29th won the Helen Lee Doherty Trophy for women amateurs at

With this early and healthy start under its belt, golf is by this time going a rugged pace, and in this third wartime season bids to further establish itself as a part of wartime health maintenance.

The Spokane Athletic Round Table has announced that the Professional Golfers Association tournament to be held at the Manito Golf and Country Club, August 14-20 inclusive, will be a $20,000 event, "topping any previous P.G.A. event in the amount of cash put up."

TENNIS . . . BASEBALL STARS TURN TO GOLF

Ellsworth Vines has long figured in Wilson Sporting Goods Co. pages as a consultant in production of quality tennis equipment. You think of him primarily, no doubt, as a great amateur tennis champion of the '30s. But, in the past two years Vines has become a professional golfer, and is golf pro at the Denver Country Club and is doing an outstanding job of keeping golf in the war. Practice is the answer. He applied himself to golf with the same intensity that made him a great tennis player, and before another season has passed, say veteran professionals, you can expect to see this enthusiast for Wilson sports equipment reaching for some of the significant golf prizes in tournament play.

In January, over the same country club course at San Gabriel, California, where he first took up golf seriously after laying aside his famous tennis racket, he equaled the links record of 64, seven under par.

Another recruit from other fields of sport has risen to golf prominence in the person of Sammy Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder. He took the honors last February in the $5,000 all-War Bond open golf tournament in New Orleans with a 72-hole total of 2858 which was five under his nearest competitor.

Ellsworth Vines and Sammy Byrd are retained on Wilson's Advisory Staff.

Wilson Fights War on Two Fronts

Wilson Athletic Goods Mfg. Co. workers are very proud of that Army-Navy "E" pennant-floating over our Chicago plant and telling the world that they did their full share in producing aviator kits, crash helmets, camp cots and other materials of war, as well as a big lot of sports equipment used by our fighting men in training camps and behind the battle lines.

They are proud too of their company's accomplishments in helping to win recognition for sports as an essential part of the nation's war program.

Wilson Sporting Goods Co. is fighting the war on both these fronts, and has the satisfaction of seeing the country recognize both as important. Wilson Sporting Goods Co., Chicago, New York and other leading cities.

The recipe is: thousands who love the game and appreciate its value to health and good work-and thousands of old, used golf ballslike this. Have you turned yours in?
