It is estimated that an audience of more than 20 million fans every week will be waiting to greet its cartoons and anecdotes. SPEEDY MFG. CO., Sioux Falls, So. Dak., whose "Speedy" Power-Vac Rakeland machine has been widely adopted in golf course maintenance since its introduction last fall, now is announcing a new trailer mounted machine, Model 101. The machine was designed to answer the greenkeepers' perplexing problem of fairway leaf raking and disposal. Its powerful vacuum devours the leaves and then chews them to fine bits in the hammermill. The pulverized leaf material is blown back on the turf where it settles to form a natural fertilizer and soil conditioner. The new Model 101 is mounted on a trailer which carries a shielded coupling which can be slipped in a few seconds onto the power take-off from the rear of the tractor. The new trailer model is designed to permit mounting of a 10 h.p. motor on the trailer frame to provide motive power when tractors are tied up with other work. Both tractor mounted and trailer mounted machines promise better playing conditions earlier and later in the season and improved turf conditions, with an economy in operating that is decidedly important in these days of manpower shortages and high maintenance costs.

MET PGA PROPOSES NATIONAL WALTER HAGEN DAY

New York Metropolitan district PGA officials and members have been discussing plans to stage a nation-wide testimonial honoring Walter Hagen for his pioneering performance in revolutionizing the status of pro golfers. NY Met pros want the national PGA to get into the campaign and help make it one of golf's greatest demonstrations. Sports writers have told the New York pros that all professional athletics could smartly participate in the celebration as it was Hagen in his role as "The Great Emancipator" who did more than any other individual to get the paid performers of sports recognized as socially persona grata. Possibilities of newspaper and radio publicity are vast. Plans for the celebration are in the formative stage with the general idea being to focus the affair on a one-day party during mid-summer.
