Golf Boom in Hobbs

was drilled in April, 1927, and is still producing. A monument has been erected and dedicated to that well. Now there are 6,000 producing wells in Lea County, which furnishes 90 per cent of the state's production. New Mexico ranks seventh in the nation among oil states.

There are only a half dozen days a year — during a dust storm or a snow storm — when you can't play golf in Hobbs. There's a "Teeoff at 12:30 Club" that meets six days a week for "business" sessions. The dozen members skipped meetings about eight times last year.

They were back in no time, though.

Maleic Hydrazide

I is a close-up taken Nov. 17, right after the second mowing; the pencil is on the line dividing treated and untreated areas of the green.

Temperatures of 100 and higher during the month of June, 1956, favorable to the growth of Bermuda, brought a gradual transition from bent to Bermuda. When observed June 21, the greens were approximately 75 per cent Bermuda and 25 per cent bent. On the check green the sprayed and unsprayed areas were alike in appearance.

It should be pointed out that the above work applies only to common Bermuda grass. Before large scale applications are made on the numerous fine leaved strains of Bermuda or on other warm season grasses, test plots should be established. Too, it should be emphasized that the above results were obtained under Arizona conditions and that climatic conditions in other areas where common Bermuda is grown may be sufficiently different to produce variable results. Nevertheless, Maleic Hydrazide may prove a valuable tool in transition from warm to cool season grasses on courses throughout the Bermuda grass area.
