You Should Have A Pool

dinner so that they'll have quick and easy access to the pool. As a selling point for prospective members, I feel that a swimming pool has almost as much import as a fine course and a comfortable clubhouse. This is particularly true where the wife is making the final decision. She is just as interested in having adequate recreation facilities for the children as her husband is in a good course.

If your club is giving consideration to building a pool, sell the persons who are behind the plan on the idea of appointing a pool chmn. who is a hustler. This especially holds true if you think members are rather indifferent in the matter. They need to be sold and you have to have a person who will take the time and make the effort to do it. As mgr. of the club, you can help the chmn. by rounding up as much information as possible to show that swimming pools pay their way.

Our new pool replaced an older one and members, for the most part, weren't reluctant in approving the changeover. But that doesn't mean that Dr. E. A. W. Montgomery, our pool chmn., didn't have to do a lot of work in putting over our pool project. He's a real hustler. I'm sure that if he had met much resistance, he would have worked twice as hard.

Bill Tucker, Jr., Returns to Golf Architecture

Wm. H. Tucker, Jr., son of one of the pioneer American golf architects, who was engaged with his late father in designing and building courses before young Bill went into the Army, is returning to golf architecture. His address is 4515 Santo Tomas Dr., Los Angeles 8. Tucker, Jr., retired from the Army in 1955 after serving in both world wars.

Tucker, Sr., was brought from Scotland by John Reid to lay out St. Andrews at Yonkers, the first planned course in the U. S. He was architect of hundreds of courses, worked with other notable architects, such as George C. Thomas, and pros and prominent amateurs in designing courses. He was responsible for the remodeling of many courses. He also pioneered as a golf turf specialist. His son was brought up in the profession. Among the courses on which the Tuckers, father and

Junior Interclub League

Interclub Junior Golf League of Washington, D. C., entering its third year, has been enlarged from four to 12 clubs for 1958. Teams, sponsored by country clubs in the Washington district, are composed of six players, two in each age group, 16-17, 14-15 and under 14. Scoring is one point for singles and one point for best ball victories.

A compilation of 180 sources of turfgrass literature divided into four sections, periodicals, books, bulletins, and proceedings, is available at 20 cents per copy from the Midwest Regional Turf Foundation.
