known as Mallard Lake. Adjacent to it is the driving range which can accommodate 50 persons.

The Par 3 layout was designed and built by Osie Jones, who also is supervising construction of the main course which is scheduled for completion this fall.

To keep play within the pocket range of everyone, Tanglewood's daily fees are one-dollar, being increased to two-dollars on weekends and holidays. Membership fees are $100 for an individual, $125 for husband and wife and for the entire family, $150. It is expected that the regular course will become self supporting when it is put in play just as the range and Par 3 are.

Rosburg Elected Chairman of PGA Tournament Board

Bob Rosburg, 32-year old winner of the PGA Championship, was the unanimous choice of touring pros to serve as chmn. of the PGA Tournament committee for 1959-60. He replaces Bo Winger whose one-year term as chmn. has expired.

As chmn. of the Tournament committee, Rosburg automatically becomes a vp of the PGA of America and a member of its executive group. He is serving his second year as a member of the Tournament board.

First co-chmn. of the Tournament committee is Julius Boros, also second term member. Second co-chmn. is Don Fairfield and third co-chmn. is Art Wall, Jr.

PGA regulations call for the chmn. and co-chmn. to be selected from among the four player-members of the Tournament committee.

Other members of the Tournament group are Harold Sargent, pres. of the PGA, Lou Strong, scy. of the organization and Warren Cantrell, treas.

Snead, Middlecoff to Represent U. S. in International Matches

Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff will represent the U. S. in the seventh International Golf Championship and Canada Cup Matches to be held at the Royal Melbourne Club in Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 18-21. They are selected by Frank Pace, Jr., IGA pres., at the request of W. G. Walkley, chmn. of Australia's IGA committee.

This will be Snead's fourth appearance in IGA competition and Middlecoff's first.

Last year the IGA tournament set a new attendance record. It was held at the Club de Golf in Mexico City. Individual honors went to Angel Miguel of Spain, who will defend his title. Winner of the 1958 Canada Cup was the Irish team of Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor, which will play in Australia.

U. S. has won the Canada Cup twice. Americans who have won the individual competition are Ed Furgol (1955) and Ben Hogan (1956).

The 1960 IGA matches will be held at Portmarnock GC in Dublin, Ireland, June 23-26.
