

usual golf events that adults hold.

The program has paid off in many ways. With an organized program, Juniors are taught how to conduct themselves as well as how to play. It has brought to Kenwood many members who are interested in their children's development as golfers. And it has developed excellent golfers.

In this year's district Junior championship, four of the 16 qualifiers were from Kenwood — more than from any other club.

Suggests Keeping Players Posted on "Slow Times" at Courses

Writing in the Willowick CC (Santa Ana, Calif.) Golfer, Gerald Hall, the professional, says that because of the heavy demand on golf courses persons all over the country should be encouraged to take advantage of that period of the day when requests for reservations are lightest. Quite a few owners and operators of courses in Southern California have started doing this.

At Willowick, for example, weekday demand from 6 to 8 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. is lightest. And, crowded as the course is on weekends, it still isn't impossible for quite a large number of golfers to start their rounds anytime between 2 and 6 p.m. and get in a full 18 without being nearly as harassed as if they had started in mid-morning or around noon.

Probably nobody ever has bothered to determine how many players at semi-private or public courses have given up golf completely or greatly curtailed their play because of overcrowded course conditions. And nobody will do it as long as business is as rushing as it is at present. Yet the players who are dropping out may be the ones who could mean the difference between success and failure if economic conditions become pinched. Some effort should be made to keep these people playing golf. Hall's suggestion for informing all players of the relatively slack periods on weekdays and weekends could help to do this.

Marue A. Carroll, Oshkosh, has resigned after 38 years in office with the North-eastern Wisconsin GA. He spent 13 years as its sec., then 25 years as its president. He was succeeded as pres. by Robert Testwide, Pine Hills CC, Sheboygan.
