One of Ten Entrants Qualify for Amateur Championship

A total of 1,757 golfers, 61 more than in 1959, filed entries for the USGA Amateur Championship which is to be played Sept. 12-17 at St. Louis CC, Clayton, Mo. Approximately one of 10 entrants will become eligible for the Championship through sectional qualifying competition while 19 players are automatically seeded into the Championship rounds at Clayton. These include Jack Nicklaus, the defending titleholder, Richard D. Chapman, Charlie Coe, Chick Evans and Harvie Ward, former champions. Seven foreign amateur champions who will be here for the World Amateur team championship, to be played at Merion in Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 28-Oct. 1, have been invited by the USGA to play in the 60th Amateur without qualifying.

Qualifying rounds were played at 36 sites in the U. S. on Aug. 29-30. The Metropolitan area of New York had the largest sectional field with 133 players competing for 13 qualifying spots. The next largest field was Chicago's where 132 competed for 12 places. St. Louis was the only other section with more than 100 amateurs seeking to play in the Championship.

Los Coyotes Juniors' Memorial Event Aids Leukemia Research

Junior members of Los Coyotes CC, Buena Park, Calif., staged their second annual Lee Hammil Memorial tournament, Aug. 22-24, in memory of a former fellow member who died last year of leukemia. All boy and girl members of the Junior Golf Assn. of Southern Calif. were eligible to play in the event with the field being restricted to the first 150 entrants. Competition for both boys and girls was for those between 12 and 17 and under 12 years of age. Proceeds of the tournament were to be turned over to the University of Southern Calif. for leukemia

Dennie Meyer, 18-year old Los Coyotes player, won the boys' 12-17 division with 74-76-72—222, beating Jim Young of Meadowlark by four strokes. In the younger boys' competition, Bill Hargis of Glendora shot 47-45-47—139 to win by six strokes from Jack Cheney of Los Coyotes. In the older girls' division, Carla Glasgow of Candlewood was the winner with a 54-hole 258 total. Lexy Martone of Los Coyotes won the 12 and under girls' title with a 141.
