Par Mate's Warm Weather Glove

Handcrafted by English glovemakers, Par-Mate golf gloves are made of soft and tacky "Nyama" leather in three styles — Double side snap (photo), Slip-on and Back snap closure. They are said to be especially suitable for warm weather because of diamond openings between fingers and finger perforations for good air circulation. There is a ball marker on each glove that snaps off the wrist for marking purposes. Par-Mate gloves come in several colors and sizes for both men and women. For a catalog describing the lines, write to Jack D. Levine, Inc., 10 W. 33rd st., New York 1.

Altra's C-1 Meets Tests

What is said to be America's newest bluegrass variety, Altra's C-1 Kentucky, is claimed to be a particularly outstanding variety that has done well wherever bluegrass is well adapted. It was first distributed in 1957 to experiment stations and more recently has been released on a broad scale. Tests have shown that C-1 stands up well to a wide range of weather conditions and diseases and does well in many types of soil.
