Stands at the Open

Three temporary grandstands will be located on the course at the CC of Brookline, Mass. during the USGA Open for the first time. They are part of a test carried on by the Association's championship committee to seek better ways of accommodating large galleries. Their combined capacity will total only about 700. They will be located on the first tee and near the sixth and fifteenth greens. The Country Club also will have stands in the vicinity of the practice area.

Ransomes Sims on Film

Ransomes Sims & Jefferies, Ipswich, Eng., has produced a half dozen service films (16 mm color) in which the firm's mowers play a featured role. The films were developed for sales staffs to demonstrate the range of products made by the company. Interesting backgrounds, which amount to a Cook's tour of Europe, the East Anglican coast, ancient towns and gardens, combine commercial and traveling aspects.

Quick Recovery for Tony Kart

Tony Kart Manufacturing Co., Rockwell City, Ia., which was hit by a disastrous fire early in April, is back producing golf carts, bags, retrievers and other items as if nothing ever had happened. The company lost its machinery, stock, inventory and records but quickly leased two buildings and set up shop again. Actually, a week after the fire, Tony Kart had two shifts back in operation.

Jacobsen's "Commercial 20" Runs Half Day without Refuel

The "Commercial 20", a heavy duty rotary mower marketed by Jacobsen Manufacturing Co., Racine, Wis., is powered by the 321 engine and is equipped with a 5-quart gas tank for a half day of cutting without refueling. Deck design permits close trimming around obstacles and eight-inch wheels with sealed ball bearings assure easy pushing and maneuverability. The deck is of high strength aluminum-magnesium alloy. A rubber covered steel bumper protects the chassis and serves as a front lift handle when the mower is being loaded. An optional catcher is available with the "Commercial 20".
