

Amateur Qualifying Round to be Played at Canterbury

For the first time since 1946, competitors in the USGA Amateur, Sept. 16-19, will qualify at the site of the tournament, Canterbury GC in Cleveland, O. Sectional qualifying rounds of 36 holes will be held at 41 sites in 33 states in late August and early September. The 149 golfers who pass the initial test will compete against Deane Beman, 1963 USGA Amateur champion, in a 36-hole qualifying round at Canterbury on Sept. 14-15. The 64 low scorers will compete in match play for the championship.

August 12 Deadline

Entries must be received by the USGA, 40 East 38th St., New York, N.Y. 10016, by 5 p.m. on Aug. 12. Male amateurs with handicaps of three or less are eligible. U.S. residents must be members of USGA regular member clubs. Excluded from these eligibility rules are semi-finalists in the 1964 Public Links and Junior Amateur championships who will be invited to compete in sectional qualifying rounds regardless of club affiliation or handicap.
