Al says the business his shop does with women is on the increase and both men and women are paying more attention than ever before to golf course attire.

"I have met very few people I haven't liked. You meet many fine people in this business — for example, my friend, Tommy Armour. We occasionally exchange teaching techniques. I think he has the greatest command of the English language of any pro I have known. I have played in tournaments with him and although we are at great distances from each other nowadays, we still correspond."

Likes To Teach Kids

To sum up: "I haven't made a fortune out of this business of golf but it has been good to me. One of the great satisfactions is to take a beginner or an average golfer and inspire the student to make the most of his potential.

"I especially like to teach the Juniors. We have a five-week course for about 40 of them, giving individual lessons two afternoons a week.

"We can't all be great golfers, but we can play the game like ladies and gentlemen. It adds to enjoyment of life. You can fairly well judge a man's character by the way he plays golf."
