Golf Now Included in Index "Market Basket"

Golf is now included in the "market basket." The Labor Department recently announced that the game plus a number of other goods, services and recreational activities have been added to the list that is used in computing the cost of living index. Besides making additions to the list, the Department has changed the weight given various components in the index.

Items that have been added along with golf are hotel and motel rooms, outboard motors, phonograph records, textbooks, legal services, funerals and garbage disposal units. Dropped from the index are women's nighties, men's pajamas, appendectomies and sewing machines. About 400 items now are used in making up the cost of living tab, where only 325 were used before.

Food carries less weight in the new compilation, while recreation, housing, transportation, automobile ownership and several other items carry more.

in marking unsafe areas, or by locating them some distance from paths that are regularly used, as happened in this case, the court will give this precaution all due consideration.

Allow for Deviation

The court, too, said Slowinski, is inclined to be lenient with the player who hits a ball and strikes another person, especially if it is established that ordinary care was taken before the ball was hit. The reasoning is, as a Missouri judge decided some years ago, that the slightest deviation at impact can cause a ball to go astray.

Courts generally agree that one player is not the insurer of another's safety, but that does not mean that ordinary care must not be exercised by every golfer. He is obligated to look before he hits the ball to make sure that his driving range is clear, and he also is expected to give the customary "Fore" warning if other persons are even remotely endangered by a ball that he may hit.

As for trespassing, Slowinski pointed out that an owner usually is not liable for injuries to persons who unlawfully invade his property. However, if there are unusual hazards on a course property,
