TV Revenue To Be Added To Tourney Prizes

All revenue which the PGA receives from the sale of television rights to PGA co-sponsored tournaments in 1964 will be added to the tournament purses.

The plan for the distribution of television revenue was announced early in April by Warren Cantrell, president of the PGA, and Jay Hebert, chairman of the PGA tournament committee. At the same time they revealed that mutually satisfactory television agreements have been worked out with a number of sponsors of tournaments on the PGA's 1964 schedule.

Under the formula worked out by the tournament committee for 1964, the PGA's share of television proceeds for each tournament this year will be divided equally among the players who complete the entire 72 holes of that tournament. Money divided in this manner will become a part of the total purse for the tournament and will be considered by the PGA as "official money".

The plan will increase the purses for all tournaments which are televised under its provisions and will benefit the sponsors of those tournaments, the players, the PGA and tournament golf generally, according to PGA officials.

As for 1965, the PGA will continue to study various methods of using the association's share of television revenues for the greatest benefit of the players.

A woman has to put up with a lot of things when it comes to listening to tales of her husband's golfing exploits. But this lady had her revenge. Irv Manske, a member of the Norwood Hill CC in St. Louis, scored a hole-in-one on the club's 155-yard No. 8. A few days later he was playing golf with his wife and gave her all the intricate details as to how he did it. She suffered in silence for a few minutes, then drew out a driver and — you guessed it — drove to the edge of the green and saw her ball roll into the hole. "Is that how you mean?" she asked tersely.

and operating capacities of golf courses in Northwestern Illinois met recently and discussed formation of the Northwestern Illinois GCSA . . . Earl Weber of Dixon, Ill., was named head of the organizing group and C. L. (Woody) Woodcliff, manager, Edgewood GC, RR3, Polo, Ill., was elected acting secretary-treasurer . . . The group is considering affiliation with a larger regional association and with the national GCSA . . . Next meeting will be at Oakville CC, Mt. Carroll, Ill., with Manager Bob Hartman as host.

This year's Masters was the best of all of them in attendance . . . The 2,800 daily admission tickets put on sale Saturday and Sunday mornings were sold before 1 p.m. and gates were closed except to holders of season tickets and others who bought tickets in advance . . . No telling what the net profit was but the purse was a record $129,800, an increase of $17,300 over last year . . . First prize was the same in 1963 . . . Palmer collected $20,000 for his 276, two more strokes than Ben Hogan in 1954 . . . That's approximately $72.42 a shot.

Arnie's six stroke lead over Jack Nicklaus and Dave Marr was second biggest margin in the Masters since 1955 when Doc Middlecoff, with 279, was seven strokes ahead of Hogan . . . That was the year Middlecoff had 65 in the second round, with 31 on the first nine . . . Hogan's performance was interesting this year . . . He barely made the cut with 148 . . . He was 11 strokes behind Palmer at that point . . . He'd had 10 more putts than Palmer . . . Hogan finished in a tie with Finsterwald, Lema and Souchak at 287 for ninth place.

Hogan is still a remarkable golfer . . . His putting is getting a bit better, although still a long way from what it used to be . . . He believes that possibly the improvement may be a result of better circulation . . . Since the car crash that nearly killed him, Hogan has had poor circulation . . . Now when he gets up in the morning he exercises by shaking himself — fingers, wrists, arms, shoulders, body, hips, knees, legs — everything.

Show director, Ben Orloff, Bob Toski, onetime star playing professional, and Harry Pezzullo, president of the Illinois PGA, get the annual Chicago golf show rolling. It was held in McCormick Place, Apr. 3-5, and in spite of uncooperative weather, 40,000 people turned out for three-day event. Besides Toski, Jack Fleck, Bob Brue, Chandler Harper, Bob Harris, Greta Leone and others put on exhibitions or manned the teaching nets.

Amateur champion, and Dick Sikes, winner of National Public Links in 1961 and 1962 and National Collegiate in 1963, had been eligible for pro prize money in the Masters each would have won $825 . . . Harris finished with 297 for 43rd place and Dick Sikes with 299 in a tie for 46th . . . Harris, 23, son of veteran professional at Lakeside GC, Stillwater, Okla. and coach of the Oklahoma State golf squad, is working for a master's degree at Oklahoma State . . . Sikes, 24, captained the U of Arkansas golf team . . . Both have applied to the PGA for tourney pro certification.

Even the fellows who didn't make the cut and who played in the Masters got $750 . . . Eleven non-competing, invited pros got $500 each . . . Augusta National gave the PGA $5000 for the PGA educational and benevolent funds and gave the USGA $2000 for the green section program.

As usual, Fred McLeod and Jock Hutchison were the first pair playing . . . And kept well ahead of the pair following them . . . Veterans of the Masters said the greens and fairways never were in better condition than Supt. John Graves had them for this year's tournament . . . Rain that finished with a day-long downpour on Wednesday rapidly drained off . . . Augusta National course has one of the best designed drainage systems of golf courses. . . . In designing the course the architect, Dr. Alistair Mackenzie, and Bob Jones kept surface drainage in mind and Wendell Miller, the Ohio State university soils expert who became a specialist in drainage, installed a great system during Augusta National's construction . . . Subsurface drainage problems were discovered later by Marion Luke, when he was supt., Bob Jones and Cliff Roberts, and were solved . . . Rain on the pre-tourney days made umbrella business big in pro Gene Stout's indoor and outdoor shops . . . Gene and his staff do a selling job that's well worth studying by pros whose clubs are going to have big tournaments.

Only disappointment at the Masters this year for millions was that Bob Jones was too exhausted to come out for the televised presentation ceremony . . . He'd been out in a golf car going around the course getting a closeup of the marvelous tournament he and Cliff Roberts had created, and seeing some of the multitude of friends he's made over the years . . . The strain was just too much for a fellow in his condition. . . . What a man, that Jones . . . They've still got his Year of the Four Big Ones to beat.

Marthon, N.Y., recreation area directors have hired Wester White of Ithaca to draw preliminary sketches of proposed course . . . We just hope that everyone who is on the winning Four-Ball Championship team at The Dunes Golf & Beach Club, Myrtle Beach, S. C., and takes custody of the winning trophy isn't a drinking man. This one would scare the hell out of a pink elephant. According to Jimmy D'Angelo, Dunes pro, there's quite a story behind this trophy. An alligator was sent to the club from Colombia in South America. A. R. Stache, a taxidermist, mounted it on a piece of cypress that was found only after the Dunes management made an extensive search to locate exactly the piece it wanted. Then the mounted specimen was sent to the Keystone Silver Co. in Philadelphia for silvering. This firm was completely perplexed because it was thought impossible to silverplate leather. Keystone spent seven months consulting with 50 or so technicians and after weighing their advice, finally got the 'gator encased in silver. Seems like it would have been so much simpler if the Dunes management had been willing to settle for just a plain old drinking cup style trophy in the first place.
