from his assistants, Edna Mac Clean and Jack Laxson.

Mann is extremely proud of the appearance and condition of the course. To keep it green when the Bermuda is dormant he overseeded with seaside bent and common rye. Mann worries most about compaction. He has outlined a plan of soil testing every three months to keep tabs on its condition. The greens were seeded with Tifgreen 328 Bermuda.

A responsive and cooperative community spirit lies behind Indio's accomplishment. City planners also have enough foresight to think about nine more holes on an unused parcel of the original 80 acres. They are sure they will need them.

Claussen, Jeffrey Added to Golf Foundation Staff

Jerry Claussen has been added to the National Golf Foundation's field staff as Mountain States region director, and Charles Jeffrey has been appointed director of publications.

Claussen makes his headquarters in Denver and covers a new region made up of 10 states between the Canadian and Mexican borders. He was graduated from the University of Oregon's school of Journalism in 1956 and is a former newspaper golf writer and editor.

Jeffrey is the Foundation's public relations specialist and is in charge of editing and revising the organization's publications. A University of Texas graduate, Jeffrey is a onetime advertising and sales promotion man and also was connected with two Chicago newspapers.
