Allis-Chalmers has added a new gasoline engine-powered model to its 1966 golf cars. Built along automotive lines as is its counterpart, the electric model, the new car is powered by an eight hp, air-cooled engine, with a heavy duty tractor-type transmission. The player can leave the car in gear between shots—the car will not move until the foot pedal is depressed. The new gasoline golf car will be sold by the 150-plus Allis-Chalmers golf car dealers throughout the country. Further information is available from the headquarters of Sports Products Sales, Allis-Chalmers, P.O. Box 471, Harvey, Ill. 60426.

Toro's 50-inch Whirlwind rotary mower needn't be stored away for the winter, reports R. W. Gibson, vice president of marketing for Toro Manufacturing Corporation, Minneapolis, Minn. A new 54-inch snow plow blade, manufactured by Meyer Products, Inc., 18513 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, gives the 50-inch Whirlwind three-season versatility, Gibson said. The new blade (model B-ST54) retails at $90. Designed for all-day every-day, heavy duty work, Toro's big-capacity Trojan with 50-inch Whirlwind rotary mower combination is reportedly capable of cutting up to 12 acres of limited-care or semi-formal turf areas per day.

Although basically a walk-type mower, an optional sulky attachment quickly converts the Trojan to a riding unit. Other optional equipment: an electric starter with generator, leaf mulcher, and no-lift cutting blades.

Tom Mascaro, President of West Point Products Corp., says the company is continuing to refine its green coring unit, the Vertifier, to produce equipment for one-man maintenance of turf. The new 1966 model MC-5 is equipped with a lifting device. The machine no longer must be supported manually on turns. New natural rubber Flexi-pads, individually mounted on tines, provide reverse spring action. With the new lifting device and the elimination of the metal tine springs, the MC-5 Vertifier with Core Catcher attachment, it is claimed, cores and cleans greens in one operation at the rate of over 10,000 sq. ft. of turf per hour, with no disturbance to the golfer.

Now available from the Wide-Lite Corp., the new SW Series floodlight. A folder illustrating and describing the new Wide-Lite can be obtained from the Wide-Lite Corp., P. O. Box 191, Houston, Texas, 77001.
