LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fascinating probability

I read with great interest Anthony Patricelli's article in GOLFDOM (October-November issue) and would be most appreciative of any further information you can send to us regarding further action or decision taken by the Connecticut Section of The Professional Golfers' Assn. of America.

Since I have been on the Educational Committee of The PGA of America for several years, it surprises me that I have not heard about this dilemma before.

You stated in your article that the first PGA school was established in 1956. Its first school was actually held January 7, 1957. And to further clear the records, in order to be eligible to apply for membership, the five-year rule is defunct and the 32 credits now apply; it is not "or 32 points."

It is a fascinating probability, a degree in golf, and one of which this particular section of the PGA has been well aware.

Wants information

Our company, which is newly-established in Europe, designs golf courses. We would like, therefore, to have maximum information about golf course equipment.

Bouquets

I want to compliment you on the January issue of GOLFDOM. Coverage on the three conferences, particularly the new products, was outstanding.
