

Golfdom

JUNE 2010 • VOLUME 66 • NO. 6

2010 U.S. OPEN PREVIEW //

20 With a tight and tenacious crew behind him, Pebble Beach Superintendent Chris Dalhamer has good reason to be confident about hosting the 2010 U.S. Open

BY LARRY AYLWARD

columns

- 4 Pin High
They're Cheating
Their Way Here
- 14 From the Back Tees
Superintendent
Sustainability
- 16 Turf M.D.
Volcanic Ash &
Golf Maintenance
- 56 Shack Attack
Dumb & Dumber

departments

- 6 Off the Fringe
- 12 Hole of the Month

Turfgrass Trends

This month, Golfdom's practical research digest discusses the impact that golf courses have on stream-water temperature. Also, a study reveals how turf-leaf orientation affects water use. See pages 47-52.

Online Exclusive

Check out this video podcast and more only at www.golfdom.com/podcasts:

"Pesticide Programs and Pesos," featuring Todd Mayhew, a regional field development manager for Valent Professional Products, who discusses pesticide applications and money in this interview with Golfdom Editor in Chief Larry Aylward

36 Training Can Prevent Tragedy

Tree trimming is hazardous work, so superintendents insist on a safety-first policy.

By Ken Krizner

About the cover

Golfdom's Larry Aylward photographed Chris Dalhamer on the rocky edge of the eighth fairway at Pebble Beach.

41 Bug Off

A golf course superintendent's guide on how to diagnose insect outbreaks to eradicate them.

By Christopher S. Gray Sr.

53 Accessory City

Check out what companies are offering to help you spruce up and manage the golf course.

