

Golfdom

AUGUST 2012 • VOLUME 68 • NO. 8

columns

- 10 Reading Greens
An "Intelligent"
Use of Water?
- 12 At the Turn
It's Professional Courtesy,
and the Right Thing to Do
- 14 Turf M.D.
Prepping for the Professionals

departments

- 6 Off the Fringe
Drought of 2012; fire claims life of a super's dogs; Old Tom Morris Award winner; Joel's
Journeys; reader feedback
- 9 Around the Web
- 32 Clark Talks Turf
Clark Throssell, Ph.D., discusses fairways with
Zac Reicher, Ph.D.
- 38 The Company Line
- 40 The 19th Hole with...
Chris Erickson,
Superintendent,
The Crosby at Rancho
Santa Fe, San Diego, Calif.

16 Healing POWER

Brutal heat and an awful drought.
Here's how to heal your course best.

BY CLARK THROSSELL, PH.D.

20

Smart Spray

New innovation in sprayer technology has superintendents saving on chemicals, labor and time.

By Seth Jones

About the cover

Golfdom EIC Seth Jones snapped this pic at Lawrence (Kan.) CC, where Bill Irving is superintendent, in late July.

24

The Tale of Gary Grow-In and the Grigg Bros.

How two Oregon farm boys unintentionally started a successful international fertilizer business

By John Walsh

28

Thinking Outside the Tee Box

Industry pros look to new ways to keep rounds flowing.

By Katy Ibsen

Turfgrass Trends

This month, Golfdom's practical research digest explores ground squirrel control on golf courses. See pages 33-36.

Online Exclusive

Stop by Golfdom.blogspot.com to read reports from John Deere Feedback, the Barclays at Bethpage, Syngenta's Daconil Action meeting at Pinehurst Resort, and the Rocky Mountain GCSA chapter meeting.