WE CAME, WE SAW, WE TOOK PICTURES

1 Three's not a crowd

(L to R) CGCS David Davies and superintendents Tyler Tang and Chris Hayman are stylin' at the Syngenta Business Institute reception. Don't worry, we got them all drinks after the photo. Photo by Beth Geraci

2 Historic Waverley CC

Founded in 1896, Waverley CC is doing what it does best: looking beautiful. For an interview with the course's superintendent, Brian Koffler, see the "19th Hole" on page 40. Photo by Seth Jones

3 Dynamic duo

4 You can go home again

5 Get on The First Green bus

Steve Kealy, CGCS at Glendale CC and co-founder of The First Green, tells attendees at the NW Golf & Environment meeting that once they invite students to the golf course, they'll return. But is that a promise or a threat? Photo by Seth Jones

6 Good point
