

Golfdom

OCTOBER 2012 • VOLUME 68 • NO. 10

20 TOURNEY TRIUMPH

Hosting a tournament can be an adventure. To succeed, it takes a lot of planning, and even the right attitude. By Stacie Zinn Roberts

columns

- 10 Reading Greens
Forest from the Trees
- 12 At the Turn
If You're At All Like Me
- 14 From the Back Tees
Career Detours
and Road Blocks
- 16 Turf M.D.
A Course Built on Sacred Ground

departments

- 6 Off the Fringe
John Deere Feedback; BASF
acquires Becker Underwood;
Golfdom archive online.
- 9 Around the Web
- 18 Golfdom* Gallery NEW!
- 32 Clark Talks Turf
Clark Throssell, Ph.D., discusses organic matter
management with Roch
Gaussion, Ph.D.
- 38 The Company Line
- 40 The 19th Hole with...
Andrew Wilson, Director of Golf, Bethpage State Park,
Farmingdale, N.Y.

Turfgrass Trends

This month, Golfdom's practical research digest discusses the Poa annua battle. See pages 33-37.

Online Exclusive

 Visit the Golfdom Daily at www.golfdom.blogspot.com as we hit Rain Bird's Intelligent Use of Water film awards then the Green Industry Expo in Louisville.

27 Pinpoint Accuracy

GPS technology helps superintendents manage golf courses more efficiently, economically and ecologically.

By Steven Tingle

About the cover

No. 16 of the Stadium Course at TPC Scottsdale, where Jeff Plotts is the superintendent, shows off in this photo taken by Golfdom's Seth Jones.

30

Make an Offer They Can't Refuse

The keys to asking for a new equipment budget.

By Steve Vincent