WE CAME.
WE SAW.
WE TOOK PICTURES.

1 Bird of a different feather We had to turn to Twitter to help us identify this Wood Stork spotted at the Breakers Rees Jones Course in West Palm Beach, Fla. We also learned it is the only North American stork, thanks to the wisdom of Scott Griffith (@UGAGCAGronomy).

2 Playing partners John Spiwak, Eastpointe CC, Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.; Curtis Tyrrell III, CGCS, MG, Medinah CC, Medinah, Ill.; and Steve Wright, CGCS, Boca West CC, Boca Raton, Fla., take time from a busy round for a friendly photo.

3 Familiar faces Daniel McCann, director of grounds at San Antonio (Texas) CC; James Smith, assistant superintendent at San Antonio CC; and Scott Boyle, media relations manager for Plant Sciences at the University of Tennessee, were spotted at the Sports Turf Managers Association Conference & Exhibition in San Antonio last month.

4 The coach and I It only took two months for Seth to meet his limit of Jayhawk photos in the magazine for a year, thanks to this photo with Kansas Jayhawks head basketball coach Bill Self. Now, the only other Jayhawks he can picture in the magazine for the remainder of the year are Gary Woodland and Paul Pierce. (Update: Turns out people around the office are still sore about a 1997 Kansas victory over Ohio State in which Pierce scored 22 points. So it's down to Woodland now.)

5 America's oldest brewery Though it wasn't mentioned in this month's cover story, Schuylkill CC is located just a few miles from America's oldest brewery, Yuengling Brewery, in Pottsville, Pa. It took Jim Rattigan about 2 seconds to convince Seth to go on the brewery tour.
