

presages a happy season of golf for both its men and women. Mrs. George C. Davis, re-elected chairman of women's events, is competent, tactful and knows the game of golf. She says, "The course last year was in bad condition. Several of our greens went out, but of course last year was a terror on all courses. Edward Dearie is our greenkeeper this year and we are delighted with the progress he has already made. It has not been the greenkeeper that worried us. We have always had trouble in making the men on the golf committee allow us enough for our prizes and running the tournaments. But this year we are happy to have LeRoy C. Towle, a former director, as our president. He understands that the women play a great deal of golf and with their entertainments and parties bring revenue into the club. He is being quite generous with us and we are anticipating a fine year of golf. Then too, you know, we have Horton Smith as our pro. The girls' hearts all go pitter-patter over having him with us."

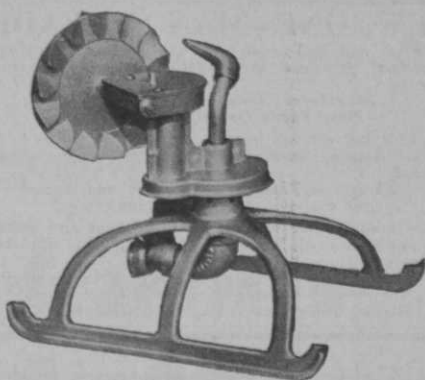

It was suggested that the state would not be very conducive to good golf. "Oh! they will have to get under control before they reach the first tee," she replied.

From the first tee to the eighteenth green it is the greenkeeper's job to keep the players happy, and Edward B. Dearie, Jr., is quite capable of doing that. For a great many years he worked with Donald Ross, one of America's foremost golf architects. In the last few years Dearie has been remodeling courses in and around Chicago. He re-vamped Edgewood Valley, was consultant on work done at Ridgemoor and Bryn Mawr. He designed Sportsman's and his most recent creation is the new north Lincoln Park course which will open May first. Oak Park under his supervision should be in excellent condition.

"We have had two abnormal years, with almost tropical conditions. These greens can't survive that more than 100 degree temperature," he says.

"The aprons to the greens are being considered more nowadays. They should be kept smooth so a pitch and run shot will not bounce off at an angle. It is hard to keep them in condition when the soil beneath is clayey. It should be black soil so that the apron could be used for temporary greens in the fall and winter."

Monday is his day for topdressing, but he thinks a light topdressing is best for summer time and that after it is sprinkled it will not interfere with play on Tuesday.

S. California Greenkeepers Hold Second Show

By W. W. STEWART

Hillcrest C. C.

SECOND ANNUAL turf equipment exhibit sponsored by the Greenkeepers' Assn. of Southern California was held again this year at the grounds of the Bel-Air C. C., Monday, April 11. Greenkeepers and course officials from as widely divergent points as San Diego and San Francisco came to Los Angeles to view the very latest in golf course equipment. The 20 exhibitors had a group of 300 enthusiastic prospective buyers present to see the demonstration of their wares, which ranged from gang mowers to hose menders.

Being a demonstration as well as an exhibition, the show was of particular value to turf growers because they were able to view machinery and equipment under actual working conditions and were able to compare working abilities of various brands of one type of machine. Furthermore spectators were able to operate the equipment themselves and thus get a first hand idea of the value and workability of each device. Exhibitors themselves felt the benefit of the display because they were able to show their wares to best advantage before an interested audience and thus were saved the trouble and expense of making possibly fruitless excursions to many outlying golf courses.

This year, in addition to greenkeepers and estate managers, there were also present heads of park departments from many Southern California towns. The Los Angeles city park board came in a body which included Dr. George Finley Bovard, president emeritus of the University of Southern California.

The finances of this event were met partly by donations from exhibitors and mostly by the sponsoring organization. The greatest single item of expense lay in providing a barbecue dinner for every one of the spectators and exhibitors. However, it is felt by members of the local greenkeeper's organization that the goodwill generated by this picnic meal more than justified the expense. No money was demanded from anyone in connection with the whole affair. Exhibitors merely were asked to help pay the expenses by contributing any amount that they desired.

AWAY into the great open spaces in the Woods of Northern Wisconsin — Where Nature is kind and generous — Where fresh air is abundant — Where the sun's life-giving rays build active bodies radiant with Health —

Could you imagine, or could you ask for a more ideal life for your boy — than that which our boys find at Camp De La Warr?

Give him this chance. Get him away from the countless dangers and temptations of crowded city life. Give him the opportunity to grow — develop a strong, healthy body and become physically and mentally fit for next term of school.

An Investment in Health

You'll Never Regret

Camp De La Warr, under the direction of a body of men (instructors from the physical training department of the U. S. Naval Academy on summer leave) cares for and instructs all boys entrusted to its care during its Eight-Week Courses.

Parents of growing boys are invited to write for particulars regarding Camp De La Warr, their life and training courses for boys between the ages of seven and seventeen — in Character Building, Behaviorism, Correct Posture, Swimming, Rowing, Life-Saving, Athletics — all outdoor sports.

THE PERFECTION SPRINKLER

It really does what sprinkler manufacturers have tried for years to make a sprinkler do.

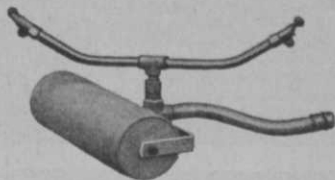

It really gives even distribution over large areas (50 to 120 ft. diameter).

It really operates perfectly at any pressure from 10 lbs. up without a single adjustment.

It really turns with a constant slow motion in any position or in any wind.

It really requires no attention and will give years of continuous, uninterrupted service with ordinary care.

It really establishes a new and unequalled high standard of performance that merits its name—PERFECTION.

GRANBY MEETS LOW-PRICE TEE DEMAND AT A DIME

Keene, N. H.—A new tee, the "Bonnie" is presented by the Granby Mfg. Co., makers of the Peg celluloid tee. The tee sells for 10c a box and is made to show good value with its appearance. A reasonable percentage of pro profit is allowed. The Granby people counsel the pro not to ease up on the sale of first class tee leaders at 20c a box, but with the "repression" on folks are hunting for low prices to meet the situation with a dime seller that's good value.

C. S. LEE WITH STUMPP & WALTER AS CONSULTANT

New York City.—Cornelius S. Lee, chairman of the green-committee of the Tuxedo club, Jekyll Island club and Edgartown G. C. now is associated in an advisory capacity with Stumpp & Walter Co.

Lee is a veteran in golf course maintenance work from the club official and practical viewpoints and ought to bring some positive help to both clubs and greenkeepers in his new connection. He is in high practical standing with greenkeepers for although his club connections always have been strictly gold coast, he has been plenty willing to accept and credit good ideas no matter how close to the dirt their origin, and has never taken the attitude of being Mr. Algernon P. Grass, Himself in Person. Quite a citizen and a welcome addition in his present spot.

ways insisted on the player bending his right knee toward the ball in what is practically a reverse action of the left knee in the upward swing.

"In my article, 'Golf Teaching Basically Wrong,' I showed conclusively that, instead of bending in toward the ball, the right leg unbends and the knee actually goes away from the ball or line of flight. In fact the leg proceeds to straighten out and remains so straightened, but not rigid, until long after impact.

"The Anti-Slicer compels the player to keep his right knee back and thus avoid throwing his shoulders into a fine slicing position, which he must do if he follows the old method of instruction.

"The apparatus consists of a light metal frame with a leather covered band four inches below the knee cap and a similar one four inches above in conjunction with an adjustable leather knee-cap as shown in the illustration.

LINCK GOES WITH SOILICIDE SOIL INSECT EXTERMINATOR

Harrison, N. J.—O. E. Linck, formerly of the Adalink Chemical Co., Newark, N. J., now is connected with Soilicide Laboratories here. Soilicide is marketing a new, non-poisonous, non-inflammable product said to be toxic to all species of ants and other soil insects. The product is said to be an emulsion that does not filter out its active ingredients while penetrating through the soil. It is a liquid, which when diluted and poured on grass, is claimed to be positively non-injurious to the grass.

FRED GARDNER GOES WITH WILSON-WESTERN

Chicago, Ill.—Fred Gardner, for several years a member of the Illinois State Athletic commission, and a veteran figure in amateur athletics, has gone with the Wilson-Western Sporting Goods Co. as special representative. In this new connection he will contact pro and amateur golfers, among his other duties.

Gardner's prominence in athletics dates back to the 90's when the Chicago Athletic association had its famous amateur football team numbering Gardner as one of its stars. He is one of the "old settlers" in mid-western golf having taken up the game as a member of the old Washington Park club which passed out of existence years ago. Later he joined Midlothian, Flossmoor and Olympia Fields, the latter being his present club affiliation. As a member of Olympia's board he represented the club in arranging for the 1928 Open.

SILVER KING OFFERS FREE TRIPS TO SCOTLAND

New York City.—Some pro who keeps his eye on the new construction Silver King golf ball, is going to be awarded by John Wanamaker a free trip for a week's golf at St. Andrews and Gleneagles, Scotland, with all expenses paid from his home and return.

The new "King" is constructed with a patented inner lining between the cover and the core, which is said by makers to give it 7 to 12 yards more distance than ever before. John Wanamaker wants to find out how many strokes this extra yardage reduces the score of the average player, on what particular holes the player benefits from this extra distance, and why?

They want every professional to answer these questions for his own course. The answer selected by the judges of this contest as the best will win the free trip to St. Andrews. This particular prize is open only to professionals in the mainland of the United States.

Anyone interested in golf, living in the mainland of the United States, can enter a second contest, which offers a free trip for two persons to St. Andrews, for the individual submitting the slogan, or description, which is chosen by the judges to be the best reason why the patented lining in the new Silver King gives this extra 7 to 12 yards distance.

This offer is a novel way of introducing the patented new feature in this year's Silver King and should attract great interest among the pro's customers.
