

The International Fairway Tractor pulling the gang mowers on the new municipal golf course at Phoenix, Arizona.

The City of Phoenix Uses the International Fairway

Another addition to the long list of International Fairway Tractor users is the City of Phoenix, Arizona, which has turned the maintenance of its new 18-hole golf course over to this efficient unit. At the time the above picture was taken, the course had not yet been opened for play. Fairways were still in a rough condition, with only a sparse growth of grass in some spots. Despite the rough going, the Fairway Tractor was doing a good job.

The International Fairway is a sound investment in equipment. It makes quick work of mowing the fairways. Equipped with an International Power Mower, it cuts the rough easily. It is especially economical on fuel and oil, using only a gallon of gasoline, or less, an hour. Ask the nearby Company-owned branch or International dealer for a demonstration. Write us for catalog.

What do you figure this Sprinkler System cost?

LEAVING aside the question of water supply, do you realize that a permanently efficient irrigation system can be installed for as low as $10,000?

Out at Plandome, L. I., the Plandome Golf Club spent even less than that in converting its greens-and-tees watering system into the complete 18-hole fairway-irrigation system pictured above.

This club wanted a system whose sprinkler coverage would be just as high in 10 . . . 15 . . . and 20 years as it was the day of installation. Furthermore, pumping costs had to be kept down to a minimum . . . particularly because there was a pressure problem arising from a difference of 125 feet in low and high elevations!

It was done . . . and done economically . . . because Transite Pipe was specified. This water carrier is immune to tuberculation . . . the internal corrosion that seriously cuts down carrying capacity and sprinkler coverage after surprisingly few years. An asbestos-cement product, Transite Pipe is durable, resistant to corrosive soils. Hence, virtually free from maintenance.

Transite's installation savings were another reason for the amazingly low cost of the finished job out at Plandome. Relatively light, Transite Pipe is easily, quickly laid with unskilled labor.

If you're planning an irrigation system, be sure to get all the facts on this remarkable water carrier. Write to Johns-Manville, 22 East 40th Street, New York City.
