Rototiller, Inc., Troy, N. Y., announces that the new Rototiller, recently introduced, in one operation prepares a seed bed 10" deep and 56" wide ready for planting. This new model is an outgrowth of the thousands of Rototillers now in successful use and its development is due to the requirements of large growers, orchardists and farmers, for a machine of increased capacity for the intensive cultivation of 30 acres and more.

The machine pictured is owned by the Acosta Groves, Mims, Florida. Special skids were attached to the tiller to regulate the depth of tillage to 2", a limitation necessary in these particular groves where feeder roots lie close to the surface. Cultivation of this type, where ground conditions approach levelness, progresses at the rate of 2 acres an hour.

This same machine, used in an adjoining piece of land, prepared the ground to a depth of 10" and a full 56" wide at the rate of 1½ acres an hour. This was the typical Rototiller performance of chopping in a cover crop and completely pulverizing and aerating the soil, leaving a smoother seed bed ready for planting.

By mounting a fertilizer hopper on the front of the Rototiller it is entirely practical to mix the fertilizer completely and thoroughly throughout the soil at the same time as preparing the seed bed, thus securing best possible distribution of the fertilizer.

Rototiller advantages, for the intensive grower with 30 acres or more under cultivation, are stressed by the makers as complete and better seed bed preparation in one single operation, with an economy of power, saving in time, and with earlier, richer crops at better prices resulting from the more thorough conditioning of the soil. Readers who are interested in more complete details are invited to write the manufacturers for illustrated catalogs now available.

1939 catalog on the famous Bristol line of golf equipment. Featured in this year's catalog are the new Paul Runyan Clubs, designed by the PGA champion, and produced by Bristol.

Paul Runyan, being of slight stature and weighing less than 150 pounds, set to work to design clubs that would enable him to get distance equal to that of larger and more powerful players. Now Bristol has incorporated Paul Runyan's ideas in the new clubs that bear his name. The woods have better balance and weight distribution than ever before. The irons have been re-designed to make them more compact and still retain the qualities that have made the Pyramid Iron famous. Another feature of the irons is the new "Retarded Heel," which tends to eliminate the danger of shanking the ball. As Paul Runyan says, "Stop working at golf . . . start playing it." These new clubs make this possible.

Among the special Bristol clubs offered this year are the "Little Poison" putters, taken from one of Paul Runyan's nicknames.

Several changes have been made in the head covers for woods. These and many other accessories are also offered in this year's new catalog. If you haven't received your copies, a card to Bristol's Golf Department will bring them by return mail.

Double Rotary Sprinkler Co., 1200 Candler Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., has come out with an entirely new sprinkler; one that is most adaptable to golf courses because of the wide coverage it gives.

The new 1940 Double Rotary sprinkler is really two sprinklers in one, because it gives a double flow of water. One nozzle throws its stream directly into the wheel to be broken up into rain-like drops and thrown a long distance with sufficient force to penetrate the ground without waste, and the other nozzle, above the wheel, throws its stream far out, picking up where the first leaves off, adding yards more coverage. The lower stream, hitting the wings of the aluminum wheel, turns the wheel which in turn rotates the entire sprinkler head so the stream of water, rotating, covers a complete circle.

An outstanding feature is that it will not stop rotating in the wind. The sprinkler does not permit puddling of the water, and rotates so scientifically that the water will soak into the ground before the next stream of water comes around again.

All Double Rotary parts are replaceable, and

The Wyodak Chemical Co., 4600 E. 71st St., Cleveland, O., is developing much business among country clubs that have found its Aqueal the answer to the problem of keeping water from seeping out of lagoons and lakes.

Aqueal is a permanent installation of material which lodges in voids at the bottoms and banks. There it swells and becomes a gelatinous mass through which water cannot pass. The material also is used for sealing leaky concrete or wooden reservoirs. Several greenkeepers have found that the material quickly pays for itself in reducing water loss.

A. G. Spalding & Bros.' research laboratories have introduced the new Spalding Dot and Dash golf balls, both available in 480 color combinations for truly personalized marking.

Personalized Golf Balls, as exemplified by the new Dot and Dash, are Spalding's solution to the old problem of "Whose ball is it?" Based on a mathematically planned system of color rotation that provides several different color variations for personalized markings, these two new balls are especially packaged in one dozen lots, each lot easily identified by a personalized marking. Distribution of the Dot and Dash balls will be made through golf professionals and pro-shops.

The individualized balls will be quickly and easily identified by means of service stripe color combinations that are an integral part of the process of manufacture. Any caddie will be able immediately to return them when recovered, to their rightful player-owner.

On one pole of the Dot ball Spalding's have placed the dot. On the other pole are two long horizontal stripes, with two shorter ones between them. The Dash ball is marked in the same manner except that a Dash is used in place of the Dot.

The balls' marking involved the ancient theory of Keishizan, better known as the theory of permutations and combinations. Under this rule it was found that eight colors were necessary to produce a sufficient number of variations in the service stripe marking to create enough different personalized ball markings to avoid any danger of duplication within the same club.

Starting with the colors—red, black, blue and green—the researchers added maroon, orange, light green and light blue. The combinations thus made possible reached the desired number selected as necessary to supply each member of a large club with his personal ball.

The Dot ball is comparable in construction to the former Tournament ball. The Spalding Dash ball is a composite of the Top-Flite and Kro-Flite Balls. Both the Dot and Dash balls have the Geer Patent cover.

North British Rubber Co. announces the following important appointments in its organization: Tom Niblett has been named General Manager for the North British Co., Ltd., and his address will be 84 Wellington St., W., Toronto, Canada. Lyon Metal Products, Inc., Aurora, Ill., has recently introduced a new device, Showerway, for 100% sanitary hand washing. The makers, sensing the important part clean hands play in the daily routine of many professions, trades, in clubhouses, etc., and realizing that warm water and soap are not always available for convenient use, perfected the Showerway, a self-contained unit that provides this convenience simply and quickly.

The claim of 100% sanitation is based on the fact that the warm, showering water is released by a foot pedal and the liquid soap comes out all around a soap plunger, cleaning it each time it is used. The water is held in the unit itself, in a six-gallon stainless steel tank. Stepping on the foot pedal releases the water through the showerhead by gravity. There is no force; therefore, a thorough hand washing can be had with from 6 to 8 ounces of water. Another feature is the fact that Showerway provides its own heat. The water is heated right in the unit.

There are three Showerway models—automatic (connected with regular city water supply—heated with electricity; electric heated, but hand filled (where no running water is available); hand-filled and heated by kerosene stove. Showerway is about the size of a small refrigerator. Complete information may be had by writing the company.
