

Keep Your (Over) Head Down

WHEN it comes to golf-course hose, the best way to get greater "distance" for your maintenance dollars is to get the best hose you can buy.

That means Goodyear's famous Emerald Cord* Hose. It delivers so many seasons of faithful service that the somewhat higher first cost becomes an over-all economy.

The tough, long-wearing cover of this fine hose is made of a specially compounded rubber that resists cracking and splitting when exposed to the "frying effect" of hot sun. The wide, flat ribs afford protection against abrasion from rocks, walks, and trees.

And the carcass of Emerald Cord is reinforced with stout, double-braided cotton cords to protect against the strains of yanking, kinking and dragging.

If your regular supply house hasn't got Emerald Cord Hose write to: Goodyear, Akron, Ohio, or Los Angeles, California.

"We have about three thousand dollars' worth of Toro machinery and spent little for parts last year. That's why we like it."

*Carl Bretzlaff, Supt.
Meridian Hills
Indianapolis*

Carl Bretzlaff, able Superintendent of Meridian Hills at Indianapolis, knows the best way to save money on mowing machinery is to buy it good in the first place and then look after it.

There is over three thousand dollars' worth of machinery shown in this photograph and some of the mowers are over ten years old. The parts expense last year was slight.

There are a good many Toro mowers working throughout Indiana that have been in service for ten to fifteen years. Their upkeep expense is low; their life is long. There is one safe way to save on mowing machinery and that is to pay a little more and buy a genuine Toro mower.

THEY CAN'T COME BACK

WEEDS hit by Dolge Weed-Killer can't come back, because it gives you 2 shots at them. Acts on the foliage, strangling them. Acts on the roots: penetrates into the sap. That's what we mean by the double security of a 2-way kill.
