

Mangrum Praises Glasshaft after Winning LA Open

Lloyd Mangrum, who came back after nearly a year's absence from the tournament circuit to win the Los Angeles open with a record 272 for the event, attributed an important part of his success to the Glasshaft clubs which he used.

"I was hitting 20 to 30 yards farther with Glasshaft than ever before," Mangrum said, "and that made it a lot easier."

Mangrum, head of the advisory board of Golfcraft, Inc., helped design the clubs he is now using. After nine years of research and experimentation, Golfcraft designers claim they found the way to utilize fiberglass to ultimate advantage in fabricating the new shafts to reduce vibration and distortion.

Smith, a graduate of Northwestern University, with a B.B. A. in engineering and business, started in the Spalding golf department in 1939. From 1940 to 1945 he was in the United States Air Corps.

Returning from service, Smith entered the merchandise department in 1945, continuing until 1954. He then transferred to become ass't mgr. of the golf dept.

"Putter Track" for Practice is New Invention

Bud Rankin and Ted Anthony, Springfield (O.)CC members, have invented a device called the Putter-Track for putting study and practice.

The device is based on the idea that one of the absolutely essentials in good putting is to keep the face of the putter square to the line. As there are countless different ways of doing this the Putter-Track is devised to guide the putter within two narrow walls and help the golfer to figure out his own way of most consistently keeping the putter on the track. It is made by Putter-Track div., Carmichael Machine Co., Springfield, O.

Wilson Refurbishes '56 Golf Bag Line

Wilson's 1956 golf bag line makes use of a new cotton material, plus new colors.

Construction features added to the 1956 Wilson Country Club line of bags include a chrome strip around the bag; double holders for both seat cane and umbrella on the higher priced numbers; and more zipper pockets on the sides of the bag for easy accessibility.

Completing the Wilson 1956 professional golf line are head covers in bright new patterns and styles; golf shirts featuring freedom of movement; new styles and colors in caps and golfing hats; and sundry items.

Burgett Offers Display Rack with Glove Order

A handsome display and storage rack is available without charge to all pros with their next order for Parglov and Par-D-Lux gloves.

Counter and show case space often limited in pro shops, can be free for additional merchandise when the new rack of the K. L. Burgett Co., Peoria, Ill., is used for the Parglov and Par-D-Lux line. The rack stores 16 dozen gloves and displays all styles.

The rack has a baked enamel finish and is easily set up and hung with Parglov or Par-D-Lux models by means of a hole punched in the new package. Gloves are simply lifted off the rack and can't fall off if it is accidentally bumped.

National Sanitation Approves Triangle Plastic Pipe

All plastic pipe manufactured by Triangle Conduit & Cable Co., Inc., New Brunswick, N. J., now bears the approval seal of the National Sanitation Foundation, Ann Arbor, Mich., according to J. E. Winick, Triangle sales mgr.

The purpose of this seal is to allow users to differentiate between plastic pipe made from top-grade virgin material and pipe made from inferior scrap material. The awarding of the seal to Triangle is the result of an intensive two-year series of tests by the Foundation. The seal of approval guarantees that plastic pipe approved is non-contaminating and safe for the transmission of materials for human and animal consumption.

Scoggins Nadco Party Opens Seniors' Program

Portable Hanger for Lockerroom Use

Creative Plastics, Inc., 140 James St., Bridgeport, Conn., has developed a portable plastic hanger which holds slacks, ties and is easily mounted on locker doors. Thin slits in the hanger allow slacks to hang wrinkle-free with cuffs up. A round plastic rod at the front of the hanger accommodates neckties, belts and other accessories. A mounting flange that hooks in the vent of a locker door prevents any part of the hanger from protruding through the vent. The hanger also can be permanently installed on a wooden door or panel.

The hanger comes in either red or yellow and is designed to hold three or more pairs of slacks or skirts.

Vitrea High Nitrogen Fertilizer is New

Grand River Chemical div. of Deere & Co., Tulsa, Okla., is making vitrea 45 per cent nitrogen fertilizer from urea at its Pryor, Okla. plant.

The company says vitrea's non-leachable form, long period uniform feeding, minor corrosive effect on equipment, and easier handling, storage and application due to its concentrated character, make it highly suitable for golf course use.

Vitrea is water soluble.

Powers New Shower Control Has Built-in Thermostat

The shower, that wonderful part of the golf game which washes away the smell of so many rancid scores, has been further improved by the new Powers Type H Hydro-guard.

The new device has only one dial to turn and there is only one hole in the tile wall, instead of the usual two to four, for valves. The simpler installation reduces costs and improves appearance.

The thermostatic mixer employed by Hydro-guard safeguards against both pressure and temperature changes in water lines. Failure of either cold or hot water supply instantly shuts off the shower. Triple duty strainer-check-stop fittings are concealed beneath the cover of the control and are easily accessible by removing the dial. Two types of installation are available: with concealed piping (as illustrated) or with exposed piping.

Powers shower controls are almost standard equipment in better golf clubhouse shower departments. The new model is described in Bulletin 366 which will be sent on request by Powers Regulator Co., 3400 Oakton St., Skokie, Ill.

Borgmeier Sees Some Price Increases This Year

C. O. Borgmeier of George A. Davis, Inc. gave members of the Midwest supts.' association, via its bulletin, his view of the 1956 price prospects on golf course equipment, materials and supplies. Borgmeier opined:

"During 1955 there has been a further tendency to higher prices on many items used in turf maintenance, especially under the classification of hard goods or machinery.

"In the summer months labor succeeded in obtaining substantial wage increases in basic industries such as steel, rubber, mining and transportation. This has caused costs to rise in factories and fabricating establishments with price increases for the ultimate consumers. Accordingly, in setting budgets this must be taken into consideration though some items coming under the general classification of supplies, such as grass seed and chemicals, are lower, so perhaps the overall picture will average out as little total change.

"Tractors, mowers, aerifiers, sprayers, etc.: Price increases from 5-10%. There is a chance of even further increases due to the tight situation in steel and other basic metals. Delivery may be slow because of production interruptions due to shortages. Do not wait until the last minute to order heavy equipment.

For Easy Shagging

Shagging golf balls is an easy job with this new Golf Ball Pic'r Up'r produced by W. G. Watson, Box 323, Effingham, Ill.

Wielded more or less like a cane, the Pic'r Up'r is a three-foot tube made of tough Tenite butyrate plastic, equipped at the lower end with a ring of flexible Tenite polyethylene. A slight downward pressure of the device centers the ball and traps it in the tube. When the tube becomes heavy with balls (it picks up more than 20) the polyethylene cap at the top may be removed for unloading.

The Pic'r Up'r comes in attractive colors, all transparent. It is rust-proof, lightweight and can be easily carried in the golf bag.
