Bent Greens in Nashville

for more than a six-year period has interested members of other clubs in the district. Belle Meade has built three greens under the supervision of Charlie Danner. The topsoil consists of 60 per cent sand, 20 per cent loam soil, 15 per cent peat humus and 5 per cent Vermiculite by volume. It was mixed off site and placed on the gravel subbase to a depth of another foot. The loose soil was firmed underfoot and then the surface was modified, where necessary to provide perfect surface runoff. Congressional bent stolons were planted on all three greens.

Based on six years of experience with bent greens, Danner says they are more satisfactory than the greens of Bermuda for summer and rye grass in the winter.

MEMO to Golf Professionals

Here's Where Better Iron Design
Pays Off—For You

Examining new playing features of an experimental Dyna-Powered model at Inverness are Arnold Palmer (left), Joe Wolfe, Wilson club designer, and Walker Inman, Jr. Palmer and Inman are members of the Wilson Advisory Staff.

You'll like the new 1958 Wilson Dyna-Powered Irons—
and so will your customers.
They make for better golf and better sales, too.

Wilson Dyna-Powered Irons for '58 combine the suggestions and know-how of hundreds of touring and teaching professionals—turned-into powerful reality by the top club designer of them all, Wilson's Joe Wolfe. As Joe says, "You professionals are the doctors. I merely fill the prescription!"

A closer look will show how the features recommended by you professionals will make these Dyna-Powered Irons SELL! One look and you know these irons are right. One swing and you're positive. Here they are, like money in the bank."

It's New—so naturally, it's Wilson!

Exclusive beveled leading edge plus bump sole increases head action to and through the ball.
