Jacobsen Purchases Big Massey-Ferguson Plant

Jacobsen Manufacturing Co. has purchased a portion of the Racine (Wis.) facilities of Massey-Ferguson, Inc. In announcing the acquisition, Einar A. Jacobsen, pres. said the 400,000 sq. ft. M-F plant gives Jacobsen one floor operation, a private railway spur and better truck facilities, room for expansion, additional warehousing facilities and possible expanded employment.

The purchase did not include the M-F North

American Parts div., located adjacent to the property which was acquired. Jacobsen plans to take over the newly purchased plant late this summer. Its present 180,000 sq. ft. building in Racine will be vacated. Plants in Stroudsburg, Pa., and Brookhaven, Miss., will continue to operate as usual.

Jacobsen produces more than 50 different

The first Jacobsen power lawn mower was introduced in 1921 and the company developed one of the first practical power greenmowers. The firm acquired Johnston Lawn Mower Corp. in 1940 and in 1945 purchased the Worthington Mower Co.
