1960 Golfcraft Woods & Irons Are "Micro-Balanced"

Golfcraft's 1960 Lloyd Mangrum Glasshaft woods are "micro-balanced" with persimmon heads finished in a rich ebony. They have a natural face and red fibre keystone insert with contrasting white stripe and double lock sole plates. The "torsion control" Glasshaft is said to eliminate distortion and is available in various flexibilities. Grips are of top grade black calfskin leather with red and white stripes. 1960 irons are scientifically designed with weight placement to give more accurate trajectory. The sand-blasted face is to give greater bite or backspin. Irons, too, have calfskin grips with red and white stripes. Woods and irons are available for right or lefthanders.

Recommends VC 12 for Small Areas

In a recent issue of West Pointers, West Point (Pa.) Products Corp., said that the VC 12 Verti-Cut is particularly useful in renovating tees and other small areas because since it is hand pushed, it can be propelled at optimum speed. The old VC 3, it was said, good though it is at vertical cutting, works at constant speed and may be subject to stalling when blades are set down and none removed.

Beaver Tractor Proves Worth in Danbury Renovation

The Beaver, a riding tractor built and sold by Baird Machine Co., Stratford, Conn., is said to have been a big help last year in the extensive repairs made by the Danbury (Conn.) CC. It has a Cultmaster rear mounted attachment that is used for tilling and re-seeding and for renovation of traps. The Beaver, says Supt. Sam Kraiger, also is handy for mowing, hauling and snow removal. It is powered by a 7 hp engine and gets correct speeds from a new 219 to 1 ratio. Besides the Cultmaster there are a mower bar, rotary mower and snowplow-grader available with the Beaver.

Says Golfers Should Protect Selves Against Theft, Liability

Writing in the Long Island Press, John M. Brennan, the paper's golf writer, said that he had recently queried Timothy W. Foley, a golf insurance specialist, as to liability in the case of thefts of equipments and golf course accidents. It is Foley's opinion that neither the club nor the pro can be held responsible when clubs, bags, apparel, etc. are stolen from a club storage area. It is the responsibility of the golfer to protect himself against pilferage of this kind. Coverage of this type often can be obtained through a rider to a comprehensive dwelling policy.

Foley, Brennan says, feels that no player, whether on a public or private course, should venture to hit a golf ball without being covered by liability insurance. Protection of this kind can be obtained for a nominal premium through an insurance agent or broker.

Wilson's All New Dyna-Powered Irons
 with Power-Flare

NEW Frame Face Scoring

There is positive ball contact with the quartz bombarded face...there is real "pro" bite in the face scoring of the 1960 Wilson Dyna-Powered irons.

ALL NEW Control Flex Staff-Pro Shaft

ALL NEW Positive Tack Leather Grip

WILSON'S 1960 Dyna-Powered irons... completely new...introducing the latest and greatest contribution to iron play—Power-Flare!

The Power-Flare blade, with the drilled through hosel is the result of extensive engineering research. It is the first really new scientific improvement in iron head construction in the last 30 years.

Based on the principle that an iron should have its power concentration at the point of maximum efficiency, the Power-Flare design graduates and distributes that weight to the point of maximum impact efficiency for each numbered iron.

Play the new Wilson Power-Flare Dyna-Powered irons. When you pick one up, you'll see the difference...you'll know it's something new. When you hit with it, you'll feel the difference...you'll know it's something great.
